Crash Sunday Kills 37

Investigators Seek Cause Of Chicago Crash

CHICAGO AP—"No control."

These frantic last words from a plunging Northwest Airlines Electra provided a major clue for investigators seeking the cause of a crash Sunday that took 37 lives.

Thirty-two passengers—including a mother and her four young children—and the crew of five died as the Florida-bound flight ended in a muddy field southwest of O'Hare International Airport within a minute after takeoff. There were no survivors.

The Electra crash was the second major air disaster in the Chicago area this month. On Sept. 1 a Trans World Airlines Constellation crashed near suburban Clarendon Hills minutes after its departure from Midway Airport. Seventy-eight persons died in that accident.

The final words from the Northwest plane—"no control"—as it spun to earth from a height estimated variously at 200 to 300 feet were recorded at the O'Hare control tower. Other words from the pilot or copilot of the doomed plane were lost in an overlay from another pilot calling the control tower.

Attempts will be made to separate the messages on the record. "We are going to have the tape examined by the finest analysts in the country," said Najeeb Halaby, Federal Aviation Agency administrator, who flew from Washington to direct the investigation. Allan S. Boyd, chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, said that "so far as we know, there were no malfunctions" in the Electra before it crashed. Halaby said: "There is no reason to believe there was any explosion within the aircraft that would be the result of a bomb or sabotage."

Fire Damages Diesel Engine At Smithton

Several thousand dollars in damages to a diesel unit of the Missouri Pacific Lines resulted about 4:30 a. m. Sunday when it caught fire near Smithton. The unit, No. 8015, was one of three pulling passenger train No. 9, known as the "Fast Mail."

The fire was discovered as the train was coming into Smithton and the train was stopped with the front end west of Smithton. Trainmen endeavored to extinguish the flames which had enveloped the large diesel motor in number three unit.

When fire extinguishers were exhausted, Engineer C. A. Greenstreet, St. Louis, a former Sedalia, radioed to the Missouri Pacific station agent in Sedalia and asked for fire fighting equipment to be sent to the train.

The Pettis County fire truck went to the scene and using a line from the booster tank poured water over the large motor and around it drenching the fire. Firemen remained with the unit until they were certain the fire was out.

The train then came on into Sedalia and was met here by the County Fire Department again and another check was made to be certain no fire existed. Railroad employees who had been notified of the fire were also on hand making a check to determine if the unit could be taken on to Kansas City for repairs.

An estimate of the damages was not available. The heat from the fire was so intense it caused the right side of the diesel to buckle, paint over the top and on part of the upper side of the unit was burned off. Just what if any damage resulted to the large diesel motor could not be determined until an inspection can be made at the diesel shop in Kansas City.

The fire truck made the run to the fire at 5 o'clock after trainmen exhausted their fire fighting equipment.

NO ONE WAS KILLED—John C. Gabriel, 36, Nelson, was critically injured Sunday morning when his car struck the hickory tree which appears to be growing out of the car in this picture. Mrs. Gabriel received minor injuries in the mishap on Highway 65 north of Sedalia.

Accident Critically Injures Nelson Man

John C. Gabriel, 36, suffered critical injuries and his wife, Sarah Ruth Gabriel, 31, received minor hurts in a one-car accident about three miles north of Sedalia on U. S. Highway 65 about 12:10 a.m. Sunday, when the vehicle struck a hickory tree. The car was demolished, the tree slightly skinned. The Gabriels reside on Route 2, Nelson.

Gabriel was driving a 1957 Pontiac two-door sedan and headed north on the highway. The car left the highway on the west side just as it entered the curve—the first curve north of Sedalia. The car traveled 183 feet along the shoulder of the road before striking a telephone pole. The pole was snapped about a foot and a half below the ground line and about four feet up snapped it loose from the top of the pole. The car traveled on northward for 64 feet and in that space began to turn over and crashed bottom side—into the hickory tree.

Gabriel was apparently thrown out of the car as it started to overturn and was thrown approximately 90 feet, landing on his head in a ditch along the west side of the highway. He is still listed in critical condition. Bothwell Hospital officials said Monday morning.

Mrs. Gabriel was also thrown from the car but suffered only abrasions of the right shin. She did not know where she landed on the ground, saying she was knocked unconscious.

Hank Henry, Columbia, Mo., was also headed north on the highway and came upon the accident only seconds after it occurred. He said that as he rounded the curve he noticed a woman staggering around and stopped. He said he then noted the automobile against the tree and went to give assistance.

Only a second or two later another car with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brooks and Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Marshall, both couples from Marshall, arrived on the scene. They also got out to assist Mrs. Gabriel who kept asking if her husband was in the car. When they could not find him in the car they began searching the area and it was not until they heard Gabriel groaning did they locate him more than 50 feet from the car.

Henry returned to Sedalia and called the Sedalia Police Department who in turn notified the State Highway Patrol and called for an ambulance. Henry then returned to the scene and remained until Trooper William Southwick arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Goff, who live on an adjacent farm, told James Scrivner, Morgan County coroner, that the plane flew over with its motor sputtering.

"They were apparently looking for a place to land," the Goffs said. "Apparently there was not enough air speed, as the plane stalled in the air."

Price would have been 24 today. He was killed instantly, Scrivner said. His wife, the former Miss Judith Monsternan, of Stover, was waiting at the landing field there for her husband's return. They had been married about three months, Scrivner said. The body was taken to the Scrivner-Stevenson Funeral Home in Versailles, Mo.

Mr. Price had been employed with a plumbing and heating firm in Kansas City.

Surviving besides his wife are his mother, Mrs. Freida Basham and his stepfather, Charles Basham, and two sisters, Miss Eileen Price, and Ninette Price, all of Kansas City; another sister, Mrs. William F. Lee, of Texas, and a brother, Kenneth Price, of the Air Force.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Search Headquarters Here

Hunt for Plane Centers In Area

A Civil Air Patrol search for a missing Kansas City plane and its pilot, John Parker, shifted to this area Sunday with search headquarters being established at the Sedalia Memorial Airport. Activity of the Patrol at the new Capt. Tom Wilson Memorial CAP building began when it was decided to move the headquarters here.

Sunday Col. J. Orville Ladd, Missouri Wing Commander, of Marysville, Mo., and Maj. McMahon, wing search and rescue officer, arrived in Sedalia to direct the activities that afternoon. They remained in Sedalia until after the headquarters was in operation.

Ex-Premier Is Executed On Gallows

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Adnan Menderes, once the idol of Turkey, died on the gallows Sunday for crimes against the constitution in his 10 years of rule as strongman premier.

Convicted Friday by a revolutionary court after a 10-month trial, Menderes' execution was delayed after he took an overdose of sleeping pills in an attempt at suicide.

Two members of his cabinet preceded him to the gallows Saturday, former Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu and former Finance Minister Hassan Polatkan. The court had sentenced ex-President Celal Bayar and several other high officials to death, but their sentences were commuted to life imprisonment by the military regime that overthrew Menderes' pro-Western government in May 1960.

A communique gave no details of Menderes' hanging. It was believed to have taken place on the island prison of Imrali, where Zorlu and Polatkan were executed.

Menderes helped to organize Democrat party 15 years ago in opposition to the Republic party headed by former President Ismet Inonu.

Tragedy Forecast At UN

Deepest Crisis Of UN's History In Dag's Death

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. AP — Dag Hammarskjold's death plunged the United Nations today into the deepest crisis of its history. It could even spell the beginning of the end of the U.N. as an effective world peace organization.

The tragedy in the wilds of central Africa could hardly have happened at a less opportune moment. The U.N. is opening Tuesday its regular 16th General Assembly session—under ominous storm clouds.

Hammarskjold may prove to have been the indispensable man so far as survival of the U.N. as a world police force is concerned.

The depth of the crisis can hardly be overestimated. Apparently there is no successor to Hammarskjold as secretary-general who would be acceptable to the Soviet Union and the United States.

The crisis was coming in any event, but Hammarskjold's death advanced it by at least a full year.

Hammarskjold's second five-year term of office was to expire in April 1963. That meant that the matter of his successor would have arisen in the 17th General Assembly next year.

To produce a successor the Security Council would have to agree on a candidate and recommend him to the assembly.

Violation Warning By Reds

Charge Flights By West Germans Were Deliberate

MOSCOW AP—The Soviet Union says two West German fighter-bombers that strayed across East German territory to Berlin were sent deliberately. It threatened to shoot down "any violating military fighting aircraft" in the future.

A protest note Sunday was dictated at the West Germans. It did not make clear whether the threat applied to U.S., British and French military planes which might wander off course from the three air corridors linking West Germany with Berlin, 110 miles inside Communist East Germany. The Soviet note was delivered to the three Allied occupying powers and West Germany.

It said: "In similar cases in the future any violating military fighting aircraft which refused to obey the demand to land in the indicated place will be destroyed by the use of all means, including rockets."

The West German government has blamed mechanical failure for the flight of two F84 jet fighters last Thursday that ended at Tegel Airport in the French sector of Berlin. The Bonn government apologized to the occupying powers — including the Soviet Union.

Top UN Official On Peace Mission

Secretary-General Was On Flight From Leopoldville to Rhodesia

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia AP — Dag Hammarskjold died today in a plane crash.

The death of the U.N. secretary-general was reported today by Rhodesian officials and confirmed by the United Nations itself.

Hammarskjold was on a peace-making mission in a DC6B belonging to a Swedish charter company. He took off from Leopoldville, in the Congo, enroute to Ndola, in Rhodesia just across the Congolese border. The plane was reported over Ndola, then turned away.

Hours later the wreckage was found between Ndola and Mufulira, to the north.

Owners of the plane which carried Dag Hammarskjold said today they are trying to find out whether the DC6B may have been shot down by a jet fighter from Katanga.

Hammarskjold at the time of his death was trying to arrange a cease-fire with Moise Tshombe, head of the Katanga regime.

Hammarskjold, 56, was in the eighth year of his job as chief administrative officer of the U.N. His term was due to expire in 1963. His death raised doubt as to the future of the organization. The Soviet Union has proposed a three-man secretariat, a move the western powers oppose because each of the three would have a veto.

The U.N. Security Council was called into session late today in New York to consider the crisis growing from Hammarskjold's death.

The United Nations office at Leopoldville said 11 bodies had been recovered at the scene of the plane crash, and one was positively identified as Hammarskjold's.

There was one survivor, U.N. officials said. They expressed belief that the plane carried 14 or 16 persons, including a crew of 5. Earlier the total complement had been reported as 10.

Rhodesian authorities said the wreckage of his plane—a DC6B shot up by Katanga rebels Friday, but subsequently repaired — was found in the bush country at the Congo-Rhodesian border. They said his body was definitely identified.

There were nine other persons aboard the plane, including five crewmen. No sign of survivors was reported here.

The plane was the object of a widespread search by U.N., British, American and Rhodesian aircraft for more than 15 hours. At midnight it checked in over the Ndola Airport for a landing and then mysteriously vanished. It had been given clearance to land, then radio contact was lost.

Adenauer Rules Out Coalition

Election Strips German Ruler Of Some Authority

BONN, Germany AP—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, deprived by Sunday's parliamentary elections of the majority which permitted him to rule Germany with an iron hand for 12 years, rejected today any thought of coalition with the powerful Socialists.

The 85-year-old chancellor, his commanding authority now in doubt, told a news conference it is essential that his foreign policy be continued in the light of the current deep world crisis over Berlin, regardless of the structure of the new government.

Adenauer left open the question of who would be the next chancellor. But, asked whether his Christian Democrats would work in coalition with the free Democrats, now holding the balance of power, the aged chancellor replied "we have worked together with the Free Democratic party before."

Both West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's Socialists and the Free Democrats oppose Adenauer remaining as chancellor, and say they will reject a coalition until the chancellor retires. That can mean his successor will be popular Ludwig Erhard, an economic expert whose free enterprise policies helped West Germany become a powerful industrial nation.

Crucial UN Meeting To Open Tuesday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. General assembly convenes Tuesday for what diplomats expect will be the most crucial session of its 16-year history. Some say its future as a peace-making organization is at stake.

Already on its crowded list of issues to be debated are such questions as Communist China's admission, testing nuclear weapons, disarmament and the strife-torn Congo.

New Zealand, with the support of the United States, took the initiative on the Red China issue by proposing Sunday that the General Assembly debate the question of Chinese representation.

The United States, while still resisting any effort to oust Nationalist China, dropped its 10-year-old strategy of getting the assembly to postpone the Red China question. It was felt the United States lacked the votes to keep the question off the agenda this year.

The United States or one of its supporters is expected to seek a delay on the decision by creating a study committee on Chinese seating which would report back next year.

Messina Trial Set

The trial of Ralph Messina, charged with arson in the attempt to burn the Gordon Building here Feb. 12, was set today by Circuit Judge Phil Cook for Jan. 3.

Messina, 53, former Kansas City restaurant operator, was indicted by a Pettis County Grand Jury. Messina obtained a change of venue to Saline County last week.

Ex-leaders Hanged

EXECUTED IN TURKEY—Bodies of former Turkish Finance Minister Hassam Polatkan, left, and ex-foreign minister Fatin Zorlu dangle from scaffold after they were hanged. They were the first top officials sent to the gallows for violation of the Turkish constitution. First line of signs on the bodies reads "Summa Verdict." OBITUARIES

Mrs. Edith Dale Brownell
Mrs. Edith Dale Brownell, 74, 2409 Kay Avenue, died at 1:20 p.m. Saturday at Bothwell Hospital following a long illness.

Born at Red Oak, Iowa, on Jan. 15, 1887, she was a daughter of the late Arthur E. and Lavinia Kerns Rice. She attended schools in Iowa and moved to the Hughesville area in Missouri when she was a girl. She was married to Dr. Brownell of Excelsior Springs, Mo., and they made their home there until his death. Mrs. Brownell then moved to Sedalia.

Surviving are: one sister, Mrs. Lula Swope, 505 West 11th; several cousins and several nieces and nephews. Two brothers preceded her in death.

Mrs. Brownell was a member of the Hughesville Christian Church.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at McLaughlin's Chapel with the Rev. Dr. Warren Neal, pastor of Broadway Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Mrs. M. O. Stevens and Mrs. George Lovercamp will sing "Sweet Hour of Prayer" and "Beyond the Sunset," accompanied by Mrs. L. H. Tempel, organist. Pallbearers will be Bruce Claycomb, Eugene Greer, Tom Harvey, John Wall, Paul Stephens and William Wheeler.

Burial will be in Smithton Cemetery. The body is at McLaughlin's Chapel.

Gustav O. Meyer Rites

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Monday at the Eichhoff Funeral Home in Cole Camp and at 10:30 a.m. at the Holy Cross Lutheran Church for Gustav O. Meyer, 71, who died Saturday at his home northeast of Cole Camp. The Rev. Albert Meyer officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery.

US Fires Second Test Shot

WASHINGTON AP—The United States has fired the second nuclear blast of its renewed underground tests, while the Soviets pushed the total in their current series to 12 with two more blasts in the atmosphere.

U.S. space scientists also had a busy weekend.

The Air Force shot another Discoverer satellite—the 31st in the series—into orbit from the Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. It will attempt within four days to recover it in midair over the Pacific. A key experiment is the placing of human cells in the capsule for testing after orbit for the effect of exposure to outer space radiation.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration lighted up the sky along the middle Atlantic Coast Saturday night and early Sunday with fiery clouds of chemical vapor in a study of upper atmosphere wind conditions. Nike-Asp rockets carried the test materials aloft from Wallops Island, Virginia.

Announcement of the two Soviet nuclear tests came after Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., predicted the Soviet Union would wind up its present series before the United Nations meets Tuesday and then offer to accept a test ban.

Humphrey, assistant Senate Democratic leader, urged in an interview that the United States beat the Soviets to the punch by offering its own proposal to halt nuclear tests at a fixed date.

The U.S. blast Saturday took place underground at the Atomic Energy Commission's test site in Nevada. It was described as a low-yield device—equivalent to the force of 20,000 tons of TNT or less—that produced no fallout. The Soviet test Saturday was in the atmosphere at Novaya Zemlya, an island in the Arctic Ocean. The AEC said it was in the order of a megaton, equivalent to a million tons of TNT.

The Soviet blast Sunday, also in the atmosphere, took place in the vicinity of Semi-Palatinsk in central Asia. The AEC said it was of intermediate strength, defined as ranging from the equivalent of 20,000 tons of TNT to less than a megaton.

Soviet explosions have come almost daily since the Soviet Union on Sept. 1 ended the three-year moratorium on nuclear tests. Four tests have been in the megaton class.

Both blasts since the United States resumed testing last Friday have been low-yield devices. The United States now has tested 155 nuclear devices and the Soviet 77. Britain has conducted 21 tests and France 4.

As the great powers banged away with nuclear tests, thousands of Britons demonstrated their opposition to use of nuclear weapons.

Nearly 900 persons, including notables of the entertainment world, were arrested by London police, who threw in mounted patrols Sunday to beat back a march on the houses of Parliament. The demonstrations continued through the night.

Soviet nuclear testing produced a sharp jump Sunday in the level of radioactivity in three states. Officials said a change in high-altitude wind direction probably caused the increase.

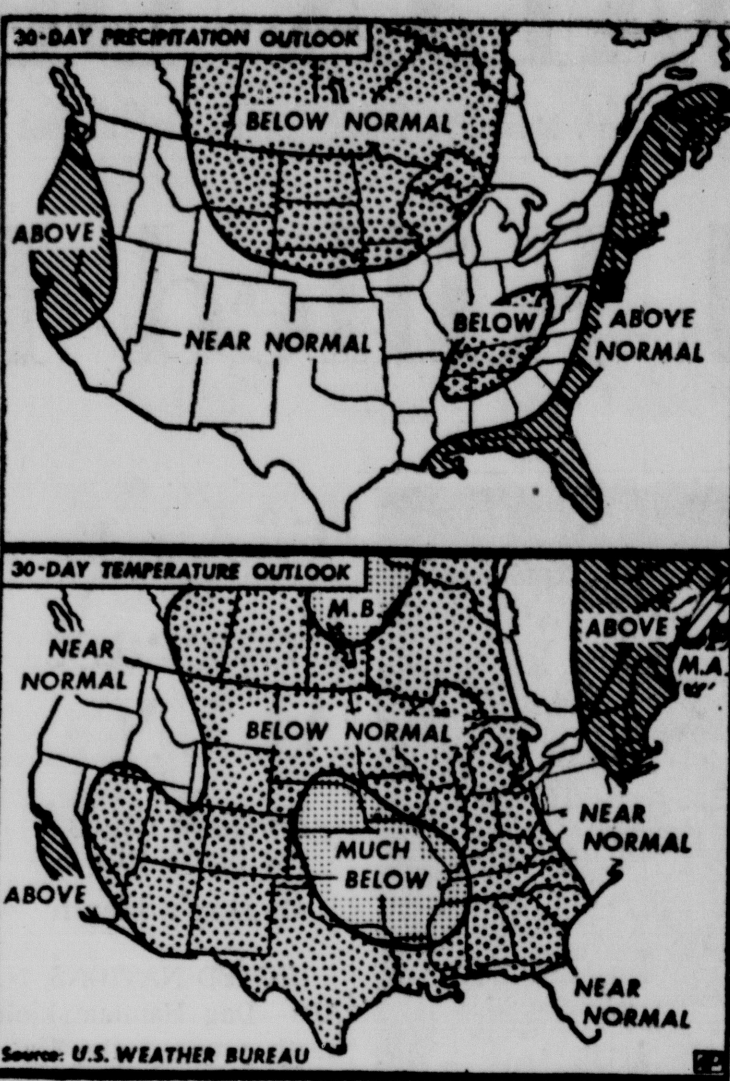

In each case, the high level still was far below any danger point. Connecticut reported a jump from a normal high of 1.08 microcuries to nearly 66 per cubic meter of air. This was the highest increase ever reported in the state.

Claude Cunningham filed a petition for a total of $35,500 in damages against the Howard Construction Co. in Circuit Court Sept. 18.

The suit is the result of an accident on Pettis County Route 4, about one mile east of Highway 65, May 5.

Cunningham maintains he was driving his car east on the highway, when he hit a tractor and crane, or drag line, owned by the construction firm. He claims the firm failed to post the proper warning signs or devices around the parked equipment. He asks $35,000 for personal injuries and medical expenses, and $500 for damages to his car. Marion Robertson, Marshall, is the attorney for the plaintiff.

Accidents

A 1932 Plymouth driven by Kenneth Paxton, 818 East Ninth, hit a parked 1958 Pontiac, owned by Lloyd G. Goode, 1301 South Kentucky, in an accident in the 800 block on South Osage at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, according to the accident report.

The left side of the Pontiac and the right front of the Plymouth were damaged.

Mrs. Helen Austin, 24, 217 West Cooper, suffered several cuts when she accidentally fell through a window at the Ideal Bar-B-Q, 401 North Moniteau about midnight Saturday.

The woman received a laceration on the right leg which necessitated the taking of several stitches to close, and slight cuts on her left ear and neck. She was treated at the Bothwell Hospital by Dr. A. R. Maddox.

Two Kansas Citizens received minor injuries in a one car accident on U. S. Highway 50, about a mile west of LaMonte at 1 a.m. Sunday, when the car left the eastbound traffic lane and nosed into a small embankment.

Miss Georgia Jean Partin, 25, of 707 West Tenth, Kansas City, suffered an abrasion of the right cheek, bruises and shock. She was treated by Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher and admitted to the hospital for observation. She was released from the hospital later in the morning.

Eric C. Carlson, 2016 West 56th, Mission, Kansas, driver of the 1954 Cadillac sedan, received an abrasion of the left cheek, and bruises.

Carlson was headed east on the highway. The car left the right side of the highway and traveled about 360 feet along the shoulder, swerved back and across the highway and nosed into the embankment. The car was extensively damaged.

A passing motorist who was behind the car at the time of the accident brought the couple to Sedalia and took them to the hospital.

Carlson was given a State Patrol summons by Trooper Bill Southwick to appear in the court of Judge Frank T. Armstrong on Sept. 30.

Magistrate Court

A warrant charging common assault has been filed against Jesse Dillard in Magistrate Court, in connection with an incident at Harris' Bar-B-Cue, 119 North Broadway, Saturday night.

Dillard was originally arrested Saturday night and placed in the city jail, in connection with carrying a concealed weapon. He was released by local police at noon Sunday, and went to Independence today by Sheriff Emmett Fairfax. Chief Ralph Hamlin, Sgt. Perry Franklin and officer John Fair of the Sedalia Police Department made the original arrest and conducted the investigation.

GM Hopeful Of Getting Plants Going

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. is counting on getting its strikebound plants back in full production by the end of this week if all goes well in contract negotiations with the United Auto Workers Union today and Tuesday.

The union has set Wednesday as a new deadline for ending strikes which started at most of GM's 129 U.S. plants one week ago today and halted production of 1962 model cars.

The UAW Executive Board voted Saturday night to have the union's 280-member GM Council meet here at 2 p.m. Wednesday to review the progress of negotiations and decide what action to take. The council can approve or reject contract proposals.

If it approves, a back to work movement among GM's 350,000 hourly workers could get under way Thursday. At the peak of the strike last week more than 250,000 were idled.

The main stumbling block to a settlement has been failure of local unions and plant managers to reach agreements on working conditions.

National-level bargaining teams already have agreed upon the essentials of a wage and benefit package described as very liberal by UAW President Walter P. Reuther.

Reuther and GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton and their bargaining teams spent the weekend trying to hasten local settlements.

By late Sunday, settlements had been made at 75 plants where workers are represented by the UAW and at four plants represented by the International Union of Electrical Workers. This left 50 plants to go, but negotiators hoped to have most of them lined up by Wednesday.

Over the weekend Reuther called in leaders of union locals from 36 key GM plants and urged them to speed up settlements on such issues as seniority, transfers, job upgrading and shift preferences.

UAW Vice President Leonard P. Woodcock, head of the union's GM department, denied reports the local leaders were given a dressing down. Some reportedly had been dragging their feet in whipsaw tactics to get better settlements than others.

Asked whether all local issues could be settled by the time the GM Council meets Woodcock replied he hoped so, "but you can't guarantee it."

Reuther when asked about prospects of a complete settlement by Wednesday replied "things are moving." He said he could answer the question better Wednesday.

GM officials appeared cautiously optimistic there would be a settlement soon.

Commenting on the Union's decision to call the GM Council into session Wednesday, Seaton said "it's 10 days late." By the time of the new deadline, he said, "our employees will have lost 10 days pay because of a needless strike."

Inquiry Classes Set At Sacred Heart

Father James Miller, C. P. P. S. will begin a series of Inquiry Classes at Sacred Heart Parish Tuesday night.

These Inquiry Classes are open to adolescents and adults of any or no faith or religion. Opportunity will be given for questions and discussion on any matter that Christians must concern themselves with today.

The classes will begin at 7:30 Tuesday and will be held twice weekly thereafter. It affords the opportunity for everyone to better understand the practices and teachings of the Catholic Church. There are no fees or commitments involved. Although persons are free to attend any or all of the classes, it would be beneficial to begin from the beginning.

Class of 1937 To Plan Reunion

Members of the 1937 graduating class of Smith-Cotton High School will hold an organizational meeting in preparing for the 25th anniversary reunion on Thursday, Sept. 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the Little Theatre at the High School.

Plans for the forthcoming reunion next summer will be formulated, as to events, time and place, committees appointed and registration will be made in an attempt to secure out of town addresses.

All class members are urged to attend.

Some State Routes Are Still Flooded

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Highway Commission reported today these Missouri routes are still closed by high water:

13—South of Clinton.
18—West of Clinton.
92—At Tracy.

94—Between Mokane and Steedman.

127—South of Sweet Springs.

139—Southwest of Sumner.

151—West of Hagers Grove and two miles south of Madison.

The commission said bridge damage during last week's flooding has forced the closing of Route 6 at the North Grand River a mile east of Gallatin and Route 13 miles north of Ballatin.

Marshall Attending Freezer Convention

C. M. Marshall, President of the Missouri Locker Association, Hughesville, is attending the National Convention of Locker and Freezer Provisioners in St. Louis.

The convention, which is the 22nd annual national meeting for members of the locker and freezer provisioning industry, is being attended by nearly 1000 people from all over the U. S. and Canada. Through exhibits of new industry supplies, equipment, and merchandise, and educational sessions at this convention, the local businessman is learning about the latest developments and techniques in his industry.

ters. Col. Padgett said Sunday night he hopes to contact someone at the State Line Airport in Kansas City who is familiar with the missing pilot, as to his experience and knowledge of flying in hopes of reaching a decision as to what he might have done in case of meeting with such a strong weather front as was experienced Wednesday morning.

According to reports, Parker checked Kansas City for a weather report and departed the Kennel Airport about 7 or 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. He checked at the Vichy Airport by radio at 9:57 a.m. and that was the last contact any air field had with him.

Sunday night a number of St. Louis Civil Air Patrol members checked in at the Sedalia headquarters and included with them were a number of Civil Air Patrol Cadets, who will assist Civil Defense personnel in a ground search if any information is learned from the searching airplanes. The cadets were housed at the new CAP building at the airport Sunday night and today.

A mass of radio equipment was moved in, which is in direct contact with all searching planes. This has been placed at the CAP building and through the night various reports were received from prospective pilots who made plans to fly in early today.

Col. Padgett said the search today was underway shortly after 5 o'clock this morning. All pilots were given briefings as they were those who came to join in the ground search units.

The search was started Friday after Parker's wife had made the request and it was definitely known he had not been located at any other air fields.

Parker, a Kansas City investment banker, was flying a red and black Beechcraft Bonanza light aircraft with the identification numbers 566-P painted on it.

Accident

was traveling in excess of 90 miles per hour when the accident occurred.

Gabriel was brought to Sedalia and taken to the Bothwell Hospital in the Ewing ambulance. Mrs. Gabriel accompanied her husband to the hospital.

Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher rendered medical treatment to Gabriel. Dr. Stauffacher stated Gabriel apparently suffered a fracture at the base of the skull, a laceration on the back of his head, and several teeth were knocked out of his bridge work and he had an abrasion on the back.

Virgil Bacon, of Bacon's Service Station, brought the wreckage to Sedalia. The car had literally "wrapped" itself around the tree. Bacon had to attach the wrecker to one end of the car and jerk it to bend the body back so it could be released from the tree. He dragged the car back onto the highway where he placed it on a dolly to tow it in.

The car was placed on a parking area at the service station. People stopping to see it were continually asking if it had been hit by a train. Bacon finally placed a sign on the car, "This car hit a tree."

The scene of the accident is where two other cars had hit this tree, and one of the accidents was similar. The driver of that car was fatally injured.

Added Funds For Program Of Roadwork

The Missouri State Highway Commission has added $15,062,500 to the state's current road building program in anticipation of additional gasoline tax revenue it soon will start to receive.

The action, taken at the Commission's regular September meeting in Jefferson City, means that 70 additional construction contracts will be added to the planned program before the present fiscal year ends next June 30.

It is estimated that the State Highway Department will receive between $15,000,000 and $16,000,000 in additional funds as a result of the gasoline tax plan enacted by the 71st General Assembly.

Under the law, the state tax will be increased from three to five cents a gallon for not more than six months beginning October 13, with all of the revenue going to the State Highway Department.

The people then will vote next spring on a constitutional amendment on whether the 2-cent increase will be made permanent, with one penny going to the State Highway Department and the other penny being shared between the counties and cities of the state.

An additional 325 miles of the state's highways, located in all sections of Missouri, will be improved as a result of the stepped up construction program announced by the Commission.

A breakdown of the mileage shows that 250 miles are on the Primary system; 66 miles are Supplementary (Farm to Market) routes; and 9 miles are Urban highways.

So far as the distribution of funds is concerned, $8,856,500 of the additional money will be spent on the Primary system; $4,665,000 on Supplementary routes; and $1,541,000 on Urban projects.

Of the 70 new projects, 38 are on Primary routes; 28 are on Supplementary highways; and 4 are on Urban projects.

None of the additional money will be spent on the Interstate system.

Commenting on the accelerated construction program, the Commission said:

"This added revenue is giving our state roadbuilding program a substantial boost to reward. It means that seriously needed improvements will be built much earlier than otherwise would have been possible."

"The expanded program illustrates what can and will be done if the people make permanent the increase in the state gasoline tax."

Here is a tabulation on the new projects by district, county, route, mileage, work planned and location:

Work in this area by county is as follows:

Benton: Route JJ — 6.2 miles grading and surfacing from Route J east to Route Y.

Johnson: Route DD — 8.6 miles grading and surfacing from Route 13 east to Whiteman Air Force Base.

Saline: Route WW — 0.5 mile surfacing in Marshall.

Cooper: Route BB — 6.2 miles grading and surfacing from Clifton City to Ottumwa.

Callaway: U. S. Route 54—bridge widening and installation of sidewalk south of Route Z in Fulton.

Sacred Heart School Notes

Get-Acquainted Picnic Opens Sacred Heart School

By Pam McGrath

The 1961-62 Sacred Heart School year started off with the Annual Get Acquainted picnic at the Community Center. This was held on Tuesday for the purpose of getting acquainted with Freshmen and showing them how students enjoy themselves. It was sponsored by the student council who did a fine job in arranging transportation and the preparation of the food. Officers of the student council are: Jim Friedebach, president; Jack Barr, vice-president; Delia Yates, secretary; John Meyer, treasurer; and Pam McGrath, publicity director.

The Latin Club officers are Chuck Hogan, president; Dorothy Farris, vice-president; Bernie Bahner, secretary; Bob Visentin, treasurer; and Bob Reiger, sergeant-at-arms. This club is designed for the second year Latin students under the direction of Sister Mary Georgiana.

The parents are benefiting this year by a newspaper called The Link. Written by the students themselves, it explains just what is going on around Sacred Heart. It is published by the office practice class. Who do a colorful and newsy job.

Thursday evening the freshmen were officially received into high school. The initiation master of ceremonies, Larry Ellis, inflicted each student with a penalty which the seniors had devised to suit each personality. Afterwards a dance was held. Everybody had a good time, even the freshmen.

The Mixed Chorus will hold election of officers next week. Sister Mary Heloise, director, organized the group this year. Previous to this it was a girls' glee club.

Sports play an important part of every student's activity. The softball season began last Friday with a double header, at LaMonte. The girls were defeated by 33-0.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters

Heavy Weather for Jet Age

In the new task force report to President Kennedy on United States aviation goals for the 1970s, air experts have a key sentence: "Clearly, considering the projected growth in air traffic and the increasing number of persons that are carried in a single aircraft, unless there is a substantial lowering of the accident rate, losses by 1970 will be totally unacceptable."

Task force men struck actual loss projections from their report. But they can be guessed at with reasonable soundness.

In 1960, admittedly not a good safety year in the air, U.S. domestic airlines flew more than 30 billion "passenger miles." The 336 passengers deaths amounted to 1.10 fatalities for every 100 million passenger miles flown.

If the same accident rate were to apply to a projected 57 billion passenger miles in 1970, the fatalities would total 627—more than were recorded in 1955, 1956, 1958 and 1959 combined (and these were years with heavy numerical totals.)

As indicated, the trouble today is that one crash can cost upwards of 100 lives. And our 1970 sights are now set on a supersonic plane which might carry as many as 175 passengers.

Obviously, major safety break-throughs are needed if we are to prevent such catastrophic losses. In the task force's view, this means better planes, more and safer airports, vastly improved air traffic control systems with heavy reliance on advanced electronic technology.

The report does not suggest, for all its effort to accent the positive, that U.S. aviation is remarkably well placed to achieve the important break-through needed by 1970 in safety and other matters. Strong negative elements run through the study.

Civilian aircraft development is now so expensive that the estimated $500 million to $1 billion cost of the proposed supersonic plane will have to be borne largely by government.

This 2,000-mile-an-hour craft, with its huge capacity, presumes a greatly expanded market. Yet the task force notes that the airlines in 1961 are having serious trouble finding enough passengers to fill existing subsonic jets.

They have taken most of the railroads' market and need new worlds to conquer. The report flatly chides the lines for not being more enterprising and imaginative.

It also lays blame at the government's door. The CAB is charged with loose route-making, the result being excessive competition for some carriers. Our overseas lines are said to be handicapped by foreign competition assisted by too-generous U.S. government concessions.

So the task force sketches an industry whose foreground presents sleek jets and glass-and-steel airports. Yet behind the facade are shaky economic props, a tangled competitive situation, technical facilities inadequate to future safety requirements.

Aviation's "promising 1970s" seem a long way off.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Red-Faced Solons on Capitol Hill

DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Most red-faced solons on Capitol Hill right now are Congressman Dale Alford of Little Rock, Ark., Sen. Strom Thurmond, the South Carolina Dixiecrat, and Sen. John Tower, the new Republican from Texas. Their faces are about as red as the streak of color they planned to paint across the name of Dr. William Fulbright, the scholarly university president who represents Arkansas in the Senate.

Fulbright had written a memo to Secretary of Defense McNamara alerting him that certain Pentagon brass hats were lining up with industrial right-wingers to foment a sort of neo-fascism despite the fact that they were wearing Uncle Sam's uniform.

This brought a storm of reaction from the Dixiecrats.

Fulbright was the only member of the Senate to vote against appropriations for Sen. Joe McCarthy's witch-hunting expedition during the heyday of McCarthy's popularity. And Senator Thurmond immediately charged that censorship of speeches by military men is a direct result of Communist efforts furthered by "others who are working for the same goals." On top of this, Congressmen Dale Alford, who wants to run against Fulbright next year, saw a chance to smear him.

So, since the Dixiecrats couldn't investigate Fulbright under Senate rules, they hatched up a demand to investigate Pentagon muzzling of the military men — especially Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, reprimanded for attacking ex-President Harry Truman and trying to brainwash his troops in the political gibberish of the John Birch Society.

Hoopla For Walker

The campaign for General Walker was launched with great hoopla. Congressman Alford was appointed chairman of a "Congressional committee for justice for General Walker." He went on the air, told his radio audience that General Walker was a "great military leader," a "decorated hero" whom left-wingers were seeking to destroy and whose "only crime is patriotism."

Other members of the "Congressional committee for justice for General Walker" included Edgar Hiestand of California, chief congressional member of the John Birch Society, Senator Thurmond and Senator Tower of Texas. Some of them called on Secretary of the Army Elvis Stahr.

They got nowhere with Stahr, a former president of the University of West Virginia. He made it clear that no amount of pressure would cause him to backtrack on his reprimand of Walker. He said he had no fear of a congressional investigation. His congressional callers departed looking glum.

Meanwhile, Senator Tower had introduced a resolution to investigate Walker's reprimand, and Senator Thurmond got a preliminary hearing before the Senate Armed Services committee on the resolution.

Faces Get Red

This was when congressional faces began to blush crimson.

Guest Editorial

LOS ANGELES MIRROR: Autumn and Check-book Pains. — This is the time of year when fathers of college-age boys are apt to feel slightly superior to fathers of college girls.

The fall fashion shows of campus toggerly no coed would be caught dead without are in full swing. From stretch pants to formals, the array of new duds is both fetching and formidable.

But those of the check-signing persuasion who fathered only males tend to chortle at the plight of those who must underwrite the female campus wardrobe.

But their complacency is likely to short-lived. The equalizer is just around the corner. Along about Sept. 15 Junior will come up with irrefutable arguments that his 1956 car simply isn't sufficiently adequate bait for the resplendent misses in their 1961 raiment.

It is a law of paternal physics that every female action causes an equal and positive male reaction, both expensive.

No 1 lady of the Senate, asked a quiet question of Secretary McNamara.

"Was General Walker commander of the Federal troops in Little Rock?" she asked.

"What!" exploded chairman Dick Russell of Georgia, the usually imperturbable chairman of the Armed Services Committee. "General Walker was in command at Little Rock. I thought at the time that he exercised high-handed arbitrary and intimidating methods."

"If the Secretary will look back further he will find that I wired both President Eisenhower and Secretary Wilson, pointing out that for the first time in peacetime in this country troops were being commanded by a man who used a loudspeaker to intimidate the public."

Russell added that Walker ordered his troops to drive people off of private property with "bayonets and rifle butts," also that eight persons in Little Rock were "put in jail and held incommunicado for hours."

"If that is the situation," concluded Senator Russell, "The tendencies of General Walker should have been very well known in the Department of Defense. It had been put on notice a long time before."

It was Walker's operation at Little Rock that elected Alford to Congress. As a member of the school board he campaigned against integration, against federal troops, against what they did under Walker at Little Rock. As a result he defeated one of the most respected members of Congress, Rep. Brooks Hays.

Now that he's safely in Congress, the wheel of fate has spun round again, and Alford suddenly finds himself the bosom buddy and defender of the man who used drawn bayonets in enforcing integration at Little Rock.

No News, Good News

Former Sen. Herbert Lehman of New York is trying to ease Mayor Robert Wagner's path to re-election in New York City this November. He has been pressing Governor Rockefeller to disclose whether he has anything on the mayor.

Last year a state investigating group checked into the mayor's background and performance. The inquiry was secret. But during the recent primary campaign Wagner's adversaries dropped broad hints that his slate wasn't entirely clean.

Naturally Lehman doesn't want such allegations hanging over the mayor. He says he can't believe there is anything to them. He doubts Rockefeller would sit so long on a good story. What he wants is to have the governor confirm that no news is good news.

'I Am Finished'

Margaret White, the seventeen year old student nurse, is the youngest person to swim the English Channel. She did not know that she had reached the Dover Beach until her feet touched land.

"I am finished now," she said. "No more long distance swimming for me. I have realized my ambition."

The young swimmer started from France in a deep fog and had to alter her course when a big steamer got in her way. Crossing the channel took her fifteen hours and eight minutes.

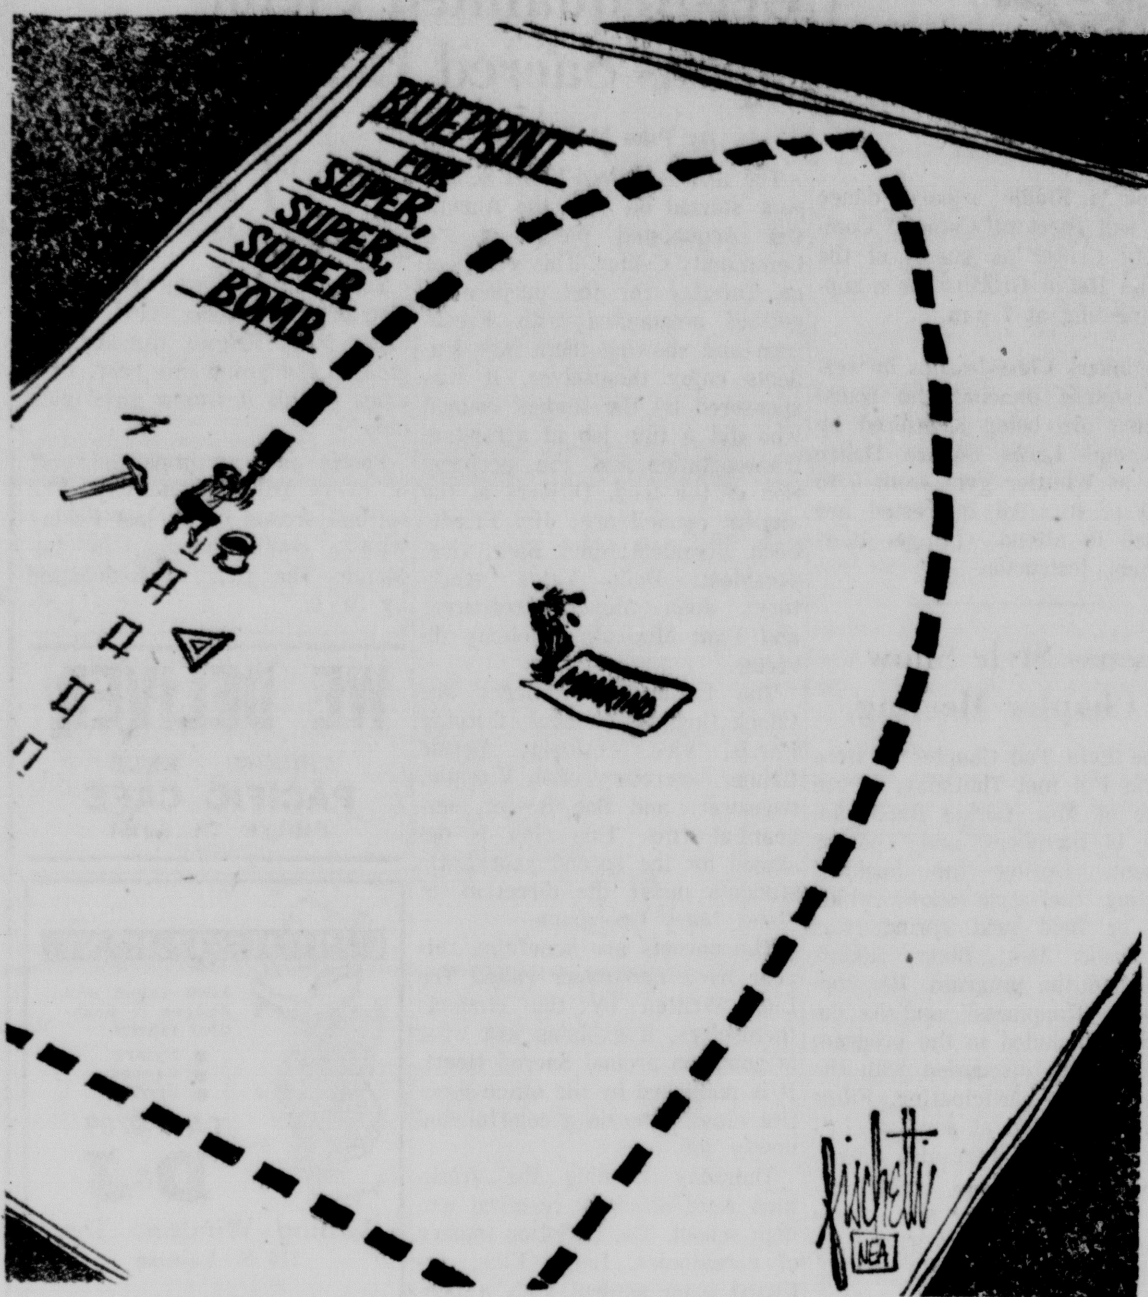

It cannot be much fun, being covered with grease and swimming through the choppy, churning waters of the channel. The young nurse from Leigh-on-Sea in Essex, England, has set a record but for her—once is enough.

The World Today

U. S. Loses Half of Battle In the U. N.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — For 10 years straight the United States was not only able to keep Red China from getting a U.N. seat but even to prevent debate on whether she was entitled to it.

Now the United States has lost half its battle. In the U.N. session opening Tuesday this country will vote for debate and then concentrate on trying to stall seating of the Chinese Communists.

The United States could line up enough votes to block debate in previous years, but with increasingly narrow margins, when the United Nations was smaller.

American power to do this evaporated as more and more new African and Asian nations joined the world organization, which now has 99 members—48 more than the original 51 when it was created in 1945.

In that year there were only five big powers: the United States, Great Britain, France, Russia and China. All were among the U.N. founding members. China then was run by Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government.

Chiang received enormous American help in trying to solve his postwar problems which multiplied as the Communists took over more of China.

He handled them so badly that by the summer of 1949 President Truman's administration washed its hands of the Chiang regime, called it a failure and said the Reds could take over at will.

The administration bluntly blamed Chiang and other Nationalist leaders for the disaster which reached a climax in December 1949, when the Reds drove Chiang and the remnants of his government off the mainland.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Sid Condict China Store on West Second street was sold at public auction for $7,050 to J. E. Searles subject to approval of Probate Judge J. E. Smith. Mr. Condict passed away several weeks ago.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, Circle No. 49, Department of Missouri was instituted at the home of Mrs. W. H. Russ. The new circle was named for Sarah E. Cotton, daughter of General George R. Smith, founder of Sedalia Post G.A.R. Officers installed were: Mrs. Rose J. Russ, president; Mrs. Cora E. Glassburn, senior vice-president; Mrs. Maud Bowman, junior vice-president; Mrs. May Highleyman, secretary; Mrs. Della Cole, treasurer; Mrs. Lillie Bratton, conductress; Mrs. Lillian Clinton, assistant conductress; Miss Bois, guard; Mrs. John Brandt, assistant guard; Mrs. Eliza Green, chaplain; Mrs. C. L. Mitchell, musician. Members obligated other than the officers were: Mesdames E. A. Wood, A. Fitzgerald, Roy Melton, R. Swearingen, William DeLuce, Peter Vollmer, Weigle and Sarah E. Cotton and Miss Lettie Bratton.

They fled to Formosa, 100 miles from shore, set up a government there, and tried to argue they were still the government of all China. This didn't impress Truman.

TIME OF YOUR LIFE BY ARTHUR LORD

for practical advice on the problems of growing older.

CALL ME MISTER

DEAR ARTHUR: After 65, we should be called elderly until we are 80. After that, refer to us as old. FOUR OLD MAIDS.

This was the first of hundreds of letters I received in response to a request to find out by what name most older persons prefer to be called. There is only one conclusion I can draw, but see if you can ferret it out for yourself as you read through the following sample of letters I received. If you have additional comments, send them to me in care of this paper.

DEAR ARTHUR: I suppose most older folks prefer to be called by the same name they were called when they were youngsters or middle-aged. We ARE the same people as we were years ago, you know, even though the public has segregated us and surrounded us with a hurtful psychological fence.

Refer to us as Mr. and Mrs. Blank if we are casually acquainted with you. If we are old or familiar friends say Charlie, Mary, Annie or Lester, as the case may be.

MRS. BLANK

DEAR ARTHUR: Call us Golden Agers and leave it at that! TED

DEAR ARTHUR: As a tourist in Sweden and Norway, I have many times been very politely called Auntie and heard older men called Uncle by young boys and girls. Everyone should call elderly people Auntie and Uncle.

RUTH

DEAR ARTHUR: I remember my father saying, "Children, never say old man or old woman." That has stayed with me all my life. If you wish to say Mom or Pop to a nice neighbor or in-law, all right.

I believe that older people should be spoken of as elderly lady and elderly gentleman.

IDA T.

DEAR ARTHUR: I am sure we would be more dignified and would command more respect from the public if we would be recognized as senior citizens, instead of elderly. J. H. E.

DEAR ARTHUR: I am a 78-year-old widow who lives alone. I am not trying to make anyone think that I am a day younger than I am, but I don't like to be reminded of my age all the time. People keep saying to me, "I hope when I get to be your age, I will look as young as you," and "I think you do mighty well for a woman of your age." Why treat us differently just because we are a few years older?

Why should we be called old-read at a news conference a statement saying this country would not intervene to save Formosa from the Red Chinese, either with arms or military advice. He did say he would continue economic aid.

Yet, within six months Chiang, who had lost all his importance for the United States, suddenly became very important through no doing of his own. With the beginning of the Korean War in June 1950, the United States decided to defend Formosa to protect its flank in the Pacific.

The United States has been tied to Chiang since. It seems safe to say that if there had been no Korean War—in which the Reds directly fought American and U.N. troops—this country would not have objected to:

(1) Letting the Chinese Communists take over Formosa and (2) letting them into the United Nations as the government of China instead of Chiang's government.

But there was the war. And today, after 12 years of being unable to get closer to the mainland than his fortress on Formosa, Chiang still perpetuates the myth he's the rightful boss of all China.

As a result of the war, and some events afterward, this country has solid reasons for being sore at Red China. But some of the United States' own friends think its resistance to a U.N. seat for Red China is on thin grounds.

For example: The United States points to Red China's aggression in Korea. But by that reasoning, it can be argued, Russia should be thrown out for the way it marched into Hungary to smash the 1956 uprising, and so should Britain and France for their attack on Egypt the same year.

Meanwhile, Red China's government, boss of 660 million people, is not in the United Nations while Chiang, boss of only 10.5 million people on Formosa, is not only in it but has a veto power equal to that of the United States, Britain, France and Russia.

But the problem of admitting Red China now faces so many tangles that they will be a layman's nightmare, trying to understand them.

Since China is already a U.N. member—although represented by Chiang's government—then the question of admitting Red China is not one of new membership but a question of which regime, the Reds' or Chiang's, should be allowed to represent China.

This country, if it sees itself losing and Chiang about to be thrown out because the United Nations decides the Red Chinese should represent China, no doubt will then try to have Chiang admitted as a new member representing Formosa.

All the U.N. wrangling up to this time over the two Chinas will look simple compared with the maneuvering, dickering and hair-splitting ahead.

sters, elders, senior citizens or anything but our own names! NORA.

If you have come to the conclusion that there is no one title by which older folks prefer to be known we would certainly agree. So next time a friend refers to you by some distasteful name, don't march off in a huff. He may think he's being polite.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

Youths Organizing For Traffic Safety

More than 300,000 Missouri high school youths are being organized for traffic safety.

Teachers and safety leaders in the state involved see it as the greatest effort yet by high school youths for traffic safety.

Envisioned is a student traffic safety committee in every high school in the state, both public and private. The committees will be expected to initiate and conduct a continuing traffic safety program within the framework of the school's education program. Outline of the program already is prepared.

Kick-off will come Oct. 21 when delegates from junior and senior high schools from throughout the state will journey to Columbia to take part in the Second Annual Traffic Safety Congress for Youth at the University of Missouri.

From 700 to 1,000 delegates are expected, by far the largest assemblage of high school youths for traffic safety at the state level.

The delegates will depart with a seven-point program which will form the backbone of the statewide youth effort.

The congress is an outgrowth of a pilot conference held in 1959. It has the backing of Gov. John M. Dalton and the Missouri Association of Secondary School Principals. It is being sponsored by the University of Missouri, the Missouri Association of Student Councils, the Missouri Safety Council, and the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

From Washington, D. C., will come Dr. A. L. Chapman, chief of the Division of Accident Prevention of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. But while Dr. Chapman will be principal speaker, bulk of the program will be carried on by the youths themselves. They will report to their fellows on various traffic safety activities successful in their particular schools, among other things.

Activities and projects which will be considered at the congress will be the pupil-run vehicle safety check which has brought nationwide attention to Troy High School; a workshop held by Campbell High School; and a successful program to curb noon-time driving by Macon High School.

Commission Blueprints Industrial Development

The Missouri Resources and Development Commission has prepared and is distributing a blueprint for local industrial development.

It is designed to carry citizens interested in local industrial development from the very beginnings through to an active program.

The new blueprint stems from a plan titled "Steps in Industrial Development" of which some 4,000 copies were printed and distributed not only in Missouri but to all parts of the nation and abroad as well. The old plan served some 290 development organizations now functioning in the state. The new blueprint is expected to help already organized groups, but particularly those now forming or in the "thinking stage."

Committee Chairmen for Hog Grading Day Oct. 4

The County Swine Development committee met recently to set up committees for the Hog Grading Day on Wednesday, Oct. 4. R. D. Kahrs of Smithton was named chairman of the Pen, Marking and Ring committee while Jimmy Reid of Houstonia will head up the Scales and Weighing committee.

John Knaus of Route 5, Sedalia, will take the lead with the Grading Contest committee while Donald Shirley of South Kentucky Avenue will be chairman of the Carcass Demonstration committee.

The State Fairgrounds Administration makes no charge to local promotional groups such as the Swine Development committee for holding meetings so long as they clean up properly afterwards. Frank Sellers of Route 2 was named chairman of the Clean Up committee. Their major responsibility will be having equipment available for the clean up and to see that it is completely done.

After the meeting is over part of the animals will be loaded to move over to a local slaughtering plant and the rest will be loaded on a truck for Kansas City. These operations are under the direction of Marion Edmundson, chairman of the loading out committee. The County committee chairman Leonard Knoernschild is making arrangements for the transportation of the hogs to Kansas City. The complete staff of the above committees is listed elsewhere on this page.

Thorburn to Assist with Pond Meeting Sept. 27

Final arrangements for the Pond-Weed Control Meeting Sept. 27 at John Ryan's were completed Thursday. Otis Thorburn, Field Man for the Missouri Conservation Commission and Chester Vermaas local Conservation Agent accompanied me to the Ryan farm Thursday morning to make on-the-spot plans.

Mr. Thorburn plans to emphasize that the time to treat ponds for pond weeds is in early June. He does feel however that there are other things much easier and much more important to do in controlling pond weeds than spraying.

One of the things he plans to demonstrate is a floating container that holds fertilizer. These containers are anchored in shallow water over the pond where most weeds grow.

As the fertilizer slowly dissolves in the water it stimulates the growth of algae which shade the water and discourage the growth of pond weeds from the bottom.

Another thing to be emphasized at the meeting at Ryan's is the importance of keeping the pond bank free of trees. The entire length of the dam of one pond at Ryan's is lined with willow trees 15 to 20 feet in height. This normally would be one of the best fishing areas, but now is inaccessible. Also muskrats tend to dig around the tree roots and may seriously damage the pond dam.

The Ryan farm is reached by taking the first blacktop road running east off Highway 65 north of Sedalia. That road is about a mile and a half north of town. The route is east about a mile and a half which includes crossing another blacktop road which is a dangerous crossing.

The Ryan farm is about a half mile east of this crossing and to the north up in the field. There is a large sign at the gate.

Briefs of the Field Crops Tour Sept. 12

Fred Karigan and I made the tour of field crop plots last Tuesday, Sept. 12, and felt the day very well spent. The first stop was at soybean plots where they told us that they were breeding disease resistance into our present excellent soybean varieties, like Clark and Shelby. They explained it was much more economical to breed this resistance into existing strains than to try to find new ones that were resistant.

While discussing crops we had the opportunity to question Ross Fleetwood, Extension Field Crop specialist, about Southland brome-grass. Mr. Fleetwood said that the Southland brome did stand hot, dry weather a little better than our other varieties. However because of the high cost of seed he suggested farmers might plant two or three acres and grow their own seed to plant the final acres they desired on their farms.

Potomac and Sterling orchard grass were also mentioned. He did not feel that they were very much better than adopted strains of orchard grass but much to be favored over imported strains. He said that the Potomac variety produced very little seed and he expected Sterling which was a heavy seed producer to soon take its place.

The corn herbicides, 2,4-D, pre-emergence and post-emergence, and Atrazine and Simazin all looked very well. The soybean herbicide Amben also looked good and has now been released for use. In one particular plot they had the soybean rows down to eight inches apart and had obtained very good control of weeds with this herbicide. This material is now available in granular form also.

We saw spring seeded alfalfa plots, one of which was treated with 2,4-DB and Dalapon and another with Eptam. Both looked quite good but the latter is the only one that is yet cleared for such use.

On sorghums two pounds of Atrazine had been used but some varieties are not tolerant of it. Amben, the same material as used on soybeans, looked quite good but has not yet been cleared for use here. Randox T also looked quite good and has been cleared for such use.

Feeder Calf Sales at Lebanon and Versailles

Two of the Missouri Co-operative Feeder Livestock Association calf sales are located quite close to Sedalia. One of them is at Lebanon in Laclede County on Wednesday, Sept. 20, and the other is at Versailles in Morgan County on Saturday, Sept. 23.

Lebanon may have 750 cattle including 400 calves and 350 yearlings with about 70 per cent of them being Herefords. The Versailles sale includes 1,050 cattle with 800 of them being calves and 250 yearlings. Sixty per cent of the cattle are Herefords and all the heifers are bangs vaccinated.

Lawn and Turf Conference Sept. 20-21

A number of topics will be discussed at the Lawn and Turf Conference which opens at the University of Missouri at Columbia at 8:30 on Wednesday, Sept. 20. The conference is in the air-conditioned Memorial Student Union.

Topics to be discussed include "height and frequency of cutting," "problems in the development of grass cutting equipment," "lawn sprinkler systems," "lawn insects," and "turf diseases."

They will also discuss "weed killers and how they act," "turf grass weed control," "Turf research at the United States Experimental Station at Beltsville, Maryland," and "ground covering plants other than grass."

"Identification of lawn grasses comes next," then "What's in a fertilizer bag." Others are "problems in golf course management" and the final topic, "you, too, can grow crabgrass."

The final activity on the Thursday afternoon program is a tour of the University golf course.

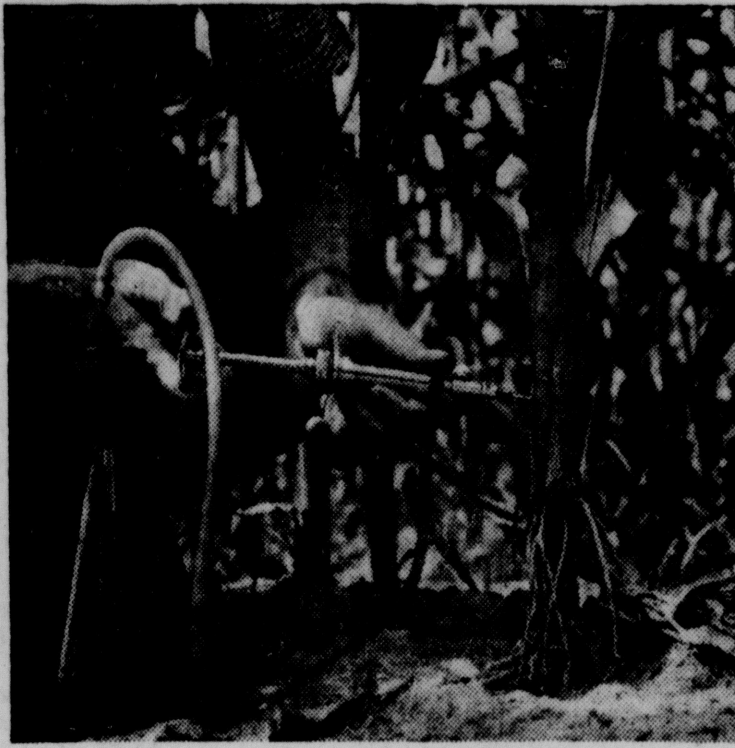

Insects on Alfalfa and Wheat

Mr. J. R. Wear of near Green Ridge was in the office recently asking about control of grasshoppers on alfalfa and new grass. Where there is no danger of contaminating pasture or feed crops, dieldrin or aldrin are out best grasshopper insecticides. The dosage of either is a half pint per acre.

The cool weather might start some folks thinking about the seeding of wheat. We would like to emphasize that there is enough Hessian fly around that we should do one of three things. First, seed after the fly free date of about Oct. 8, plant Hessian fly resistant varieties or use a chemical in the fertilizer to control the insects. Information on resistant varieties and the chemical control are available at the Extension office.

STALK ROT ORGANISMS are injected into a corn plant by a University of Missouri field crops scientist as a part of a study to find stalk rot resistant strains. Stalk rot is caused by fungi which attack certain tissues of the stalk often resulting in stalk lodging. Any plant that is not severely damaged after being injected as shown here is likely to be highly resistant to stalk rot. University researchers say that since the disease organisms appears to be present in every field that has grown corn in the past, the most logical solution is to develop resistant lines. Some 16,000 corn plants will be injected this year as a part of the University study.

Insect, Rodent Proofing

Time to Prepare Storage Bins, Cribs for Grains

By Lloyd Lewellen

The time is now at hand to prepare those cribs and bins for storage of corn, grain sorghums and soybeans. Whether you realize it or not, a continued effort to control stored grain insects and rodents means extra money for you when the crop is sold. Down-grading of the grain due to stored grain insects and rodent contamination, as well as actual loss of grain, are the reasons why clean up and control should be started prior to the actual storage of the crop.

Thoroughly clean out cribs and bins. Don't leave any old corn or grain in the cribs or bins where you plan to store this year's crop. Make needed repairs and rodent proof the cribs and bins if possible.

After the clean up, spray all interior surfaces with methoxychlor or premium grade malathion. Use 3/4 pint 25 per cent methoxychlor emulsifiable concentrate or one-third pint 57 per cent premium grade malathion emulsifiable concentrate per gallon of water. A gallon of spray will treat approximately 1,000 square feet of surface.

If rats and mice have been a problem or are seen during the clean up, start control efforts now. It will save a lot of damage and trouble later. Use a rat and mouse bait and keep replenishing as long as any is being eaten.

On picker-shelled corn, use the malathion as a grain protectant. Apply as a spray or dust to the corn as it is being put into storage and after it has been dried to a safe moisture storage content. If you plan to use forced air, particularly heated air, through the corn after it has been placed in storage, then leave the malathion grain protectant off because the forced air will largely nullify the effects of the protectant. Use one pint 57 per cent grade malathion emulsifiable concentrate per 1,000 bushels of grain applied in two to five gallons of water as grain is being elevated into the bin.

R. D. Alsip Reports For Naval Training

Richard D. Alsip Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Alsip of 2401 West Third, Sedalia, reported for nine weeks of recruit training, Aug. 16, at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The training, designed to provide a smooth transition from civilian life to military, turns the raw recruit into an experienced bluejacket ready for duty with one of the Navy's seven fleets.

Classroom instruction ranges from cold weather training to Navy history, military drill, physical fitness, swimming and recreation round out the physical training.

Throughout the training cycle, each recruit will receive career counseling to help determine his qualifications for one of 67 Navy job specialties.

At Meet Last Friday

Committees Named for Hog Grading Meet, October 14

Here are the committees set up by the Pettis County Swine Development Committee last Friday night, Sept. 8, for the hog grading meeting, Oct. 14.

Pen, Marking and Ring committee — R. D. Kahrs Chairman, Albert Anderson, J. R. Renison, John Wagenknecht, James L. McCurdy, Roy Shernaman and Pierre Lamy. The committee will have charge of marking the hogs, allocating pens, in moving hogs back and forth to the ring and in marking the hogs by grade as designated by officials.

Scales and weighing committee, Jimmy Reid, Chairman; Dale Clingan, G. W. Meyer, George Green, W. J. Lamm and Edward Schroeder. All the hogs will be weighed. Scale tickets will be made for the meeting, the owner, the trucker and the commission company.

Grading Contest Committee — John Knaus, Chairman; Jack Curran, Walter Bohlen, Robert McCurdy, Lynn Wagenknecht, J. R. Chamberlain, William E. Sawford and Eldon Hogan. The committee will assist the judge in selecting contest animals from the individual pens, in checking them for backfat, in moving them in and out of the grading ring and in distributing grading cards.

Carcass demonstration committee — Donald Shirley, Chairman; William Shockey, Stevens McClure and Paul Neitzert. The committee will need to locate two No. 1 hogs of similar conformation and two No. 2's or No. 3's. They will make arrangements to have one of each butchered the previous day.

Clean up committee — Frank Sellers, Chairman; Otis Thomas, Rance Hoehns, David Walk, Donald Arnett and Marion Minor

Laotian Prince Says He Should Head Coalition

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Laos' Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma said Sunday the solution to his country's crisis lies in the formation of a coalition government "presided over by myself."

Souvanna told a news conference this was agreed during his three days of talks here with U.S. roving Ambassador Averell Harriman. He said he was satisfied "in general" with the talks with Harriman.

Harriman declined immediate comment. He is scheduled to fly to the Laotian capital, Vientiane, today.

Ends Supply Training

Army Pvt. Delbert E. Langkrahr, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin H. Langkrahr, Route 1, La Monte, completed the general supply course at The Quartermaster School, Fort Lee, Va., Sept. 8.

During the course Langkrahr received training in the receipt, storage, issue and stock control of supplies and material.

He entered the Army in April of this year and received basic training at Fort Leonard Wood. Langkrahr is a 1955 graduate of LaMonte high school and was employed by the International Shoe Co., Sweet Springs, before entering the Army.

To Be Re-scheduled

The Farm and Home Planning Field Day that was cancelled last Wednesday on the Bill Lamm farm will be re-scheduled in a couple of weeks. The date will be announced.

Grass Crops Important To Area Farmers

Grass is an important crop on the average Missouri farm. Grass used either as pasture or hay is the basis for the livestock industry in the state.

Because of its importance, questions on fertilizing grass are becoming more common. If you have an average Missouri farm, you may have wondered whether it would be profitable to apply lime and fertilizer to the pasture and hay land on your farm.

The answer is yes. Fertilizing grass can be highly profitable. It can result in more pasture, or hay per acre. In many cases, yields have been doubled by the application of lime and fertilizer. Furthermore, now is an excellent time to apply soil treatments.

Experimental work has also shown that grasses of all kinds respond to annual treatments of nitrogen, phosphate, and potash. Bluegrass, timothy, brome, orchard, fescue, and redtop all come through with increased production. In other words if you have a stand of one of those grasses you can expect a profitable response.

While treatment can be applied either in the fall or spring—right now can be considered an ideal time for top dressing. There are two reasons for this. First of all, it will mean more growth this fall, which can be utilized as pasture during late fall and winter. Secondly, fields are generally firm and in good shape for spreading equipment.

Another treatment that can be used now is the application of limestone. On pastures or hay land, where you have a good stand of grass—but need lime—spreading the lime on top of the existing stand can help correct the need for lime.

K-State 'Cats Optimistic Of Chances

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—"We approach the coming season with guarded optimism. . . . Yes, we are a bit disturbed about what people are saying about us. . . . But we'll be out there to win and maybe we'll fool some people."

It was Doug Weaver, coach of the Kansas State Wildcats, giving his view of his team's chances in the new football season.

Kansas State defeated little South Dakota State 20-6 in its opener last season, then proceeded to lose its next nine games.

But being a champion optimist, Weaver is confident the 'Cats are going to show new life in a schedule that opens with Indiana of the Big Ten here Saturday and includes other non-league games in the Air Force and Kentucky, not to mention the tough Big Eight games.

The Wildcats will field the lightest team in the Big Eight. The line will average 191 pounds if sophomore Bob Noblitt, 190, starts at right guard. If Bob's brother, senior Dave, 215, starts the weight will be upped a wee bit.

The starting backfield could dip as low as 181 pounds, depending on whether 160 pound sophomore Ralph McFillen gets the right half job.

Four transfers figure prominently in the Wildcats' plans. Fred Watts, 190, from Garden City (Kan.) Junior College, has almost won the quarterback job.

Weaver thinks highly of Joe Searles, 190, from Pratt Junior College, and of Jack King, 190, an end from Hutchinson Junior College. Both are likely to start against Indiana.

Bill Hull, 200, who played his sophomore season at Wichita University appears set at a tackle.

While still shy of outstanding personnel, Kansas State may boast several of the better Big Eight players in Darrell Elder, 191, junior end from Salina, Kan.; Al Kouneski, 188, center from Baltimore, Md., and the Noblitt brothers from Great Bend, Kan.

"This Indiana game means a lot to both teams," Weaver commented. "They think they need to win it and we know we need to win it. They play hard nosed football and have more speed than we have, but we'll be giving it everything we have."

And, Weaver parted: "Who ever heard of breaking a losing streak when everybody is pessimistic. Please mark us down as optimistic."

Top Chute Jumpers Compete In Tryouts

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Between 100 and 150 of the nation's top jumpers will compete in the national parachute championships and U.S. team try-outs at Olathe, Kan., in May.

Eight jumpers—five men and three women—will be chosen for the U.S. team that will compete in the international meet at Orange, Mass., next year. Between 15 and 20 nations, including Iron Curtain countries, will compete in the international.

Maris Incorporated

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Roger Maris, New York Yankee slugger, has been incorporated.

Incorporation papers filed at the Jackson County courthouse Saturday carry the name, Roger Maris Inc., and list Maris, his wife, Patricia, and his attorney, James W. Shaffer, as stockholders.

A big rush of business in advertising, endorsement of products and promotion is expected by the corporation—especially if Maris breaks Babe Ruth's home run record.

The Maris home is in nearby Raytown.

NFL Outlook Changes Due After Openers

By JACK CLAW Associated Press Sports Writer

Something has gone awry.

The Cleveland Browns are the unanimous choice to win the National Football League's Eastern Conference crown. The defending champion Philadelphia Eagles are dead without their great quarterback Norm Van Brocklin. So are the St. Louis Cardinals without their great running back of John David Crow and Joe Christy, and with Quarterback Sam Etcheverry's sore arm. The Minnesota Vikings probably won't win a game and the Dallas Cowboys may be lucky to get just one.

That was the word as late as noon Sunday before the league opened its 42nd season. Today, the tune has changed.

The Philadelphia Eagles, with Van Brocklin now coaching the new Minnesota entry, broke Cleveland's bubble the first time out 27-20. The Cards found that even with a half an arm and a couple of adequate runners in Frank Mestnik and Mal Hammack, they had enough to upset the New York Giants 21-10.

The Vikings made the Chicago Bears look like the new team with a 37-13 victory in their first start, while sophomore Dallas won its first game in 14 tries in the NFL, 27-24 over Pittsburgh.

In still another mild surprise, the Detroit Lions upended Green Bay defending Western Conference champs 17-13, while Baltimore had to scrape to down Los Angeles 27-24 and San Francisco rolled over Washington 35-3.

The Eagles applied the crusher early on the Browns, springing Tim Brown on a 105-yard touchdown run with the opening kickoff. Sonny Jurgensen, Van Brocklin's successor, then tossed TD passes of 18 and six yards to Bobby Walston and Tom McDonald, respectively, the former putting Philly ahead to stay in the second period.

Browns quarterback Milt Plum completed 18 of 30 passes for 329 yards but the Eagles kept the running of Jimmy Brown and Bobby Mitchell in check.

Etcheverry, whose arm had little to do with his masterful play calling and deception, threw a five-yard TD toss to Mestnik after Hammack gave the Cards a 14-10 lead with 28-yard TD run. Giants' rookie Larry Hayes blocked a kick and its recovery in the end zone got the New Yorkers' only TD.

Rookie quarterback Fran Tarkenton, taking over for veteran George Shaw, fired four touchdown passes and scored another as the Vikings began their NFL career before 32,236 home fans.

Rookie placekicker Allen Green, obtained in a three-way trade with Washington and New York, kicked a 27-yard game-winning field goal in the final second after Eddie LeBaron, in the final two minutes, guided the Cowboys on a 75-yard TD drive.

Nick Pietrosante scored both Detroit touchdowns after punts by Yale Lary had set the Packers deep in their own territory. The second was on an 11-yard pass from Earl Morrill. Jim Taylor scored the Packer touchdown in the first four minutes.

The Colts put the lid on Rams' quarterback Zeke Bratkowski, who helped his team score touchdowns four out of the first five times Los Angeles had the ball in the first half. Steve Myhra's two field goals, the last a 39-yarder that broke a 24-24 tie in the final period, proved to be the difference.

John Brodie threw four touchdowns passes for San Francisco, two going to Monte Stickles and another to J. D. Smith, who also scored on a plunge. John Aveni's 29-yard field goal got the only Redskins points.

Maris Nears Run Record; Two To Go

Slams 58th Sunday With Kubek On To Defeat Detroit

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris has 58 home runs and needs only two more in three decisions to tie Babe Ruth's all-time record of 60 set in 1927.

Maris slammed No. 58 Sunday with Tony Kubek on base in the 12th inning at Detroit for a 6-4 New York Yankee victory over the Tigers. The Yanks, leading by 10 1/2 games, can clinch the American League pennant with any combination of victories or Detroit defeats adding up to two.

As commissioner Ford Frick has decreed that Ruth's record must be tied or broken within 154 decisions—a tie game is not a decision and both the 1961 Yanks and the 1927 Yanks played one tie—time runs out on Maris in Baltimore Wednesday night.

Maris and Mickey Mantle, the other half of the M & M combination who has been stalled at 53 since last Sunday, are idle today. The Yanks play a twilight-night doubleheader in Baltimore Tuesday and a night game Wednesday.

The Yanks now have played 151 decisions (152 games) and will have completed 154 by Wednesday night, barring interference by the weather man. Of course, they are playing a 162-game schedule this season, and have plenty of time to put over the clincher. If Maris or Mantle hit 60 or more homers after the 154th decision, their feat will go into the record book, marked by an asterisk to indicate it was done in a 162-game season.

Maris had two extra chances when the game went into extra innings. He walked twice and struck out once before he tripled in the seventh, a blow that missed being a homer by a foot. After Moose Skowron's wild throw helped Detroit tie the score in the eighth, Maris fled out in the 10th and then hit the 400-foot homer on a 2-1 pitch by relief man Terry Fox.

Bill Monbouquette of Boston held Baltimore to three singles and won 1-0 on Jim Pagliaroni's double in the fourth. Lew Krausse, Kansas City's $125,000 rookie, won his first game since June 16 with a five-hitter against Washington 3-2.

Minnesota took a pair from Cleveland 5-0 and 5-3 on Camilo Pascual's seventh shutout and the combined pitching of Al Schroll and Ray Moore. Joe Altobelli, who homered off Jim Perry, drove in three runs in the opener and one in the second.

Chicago swept two from the Los Angeles Angels 8-1 and 4-3 in 10 innings. Al Smith's grand slammer and Frank Baumann's five-hitter won the opener. Billy Goodman's pinch single broke up the second.

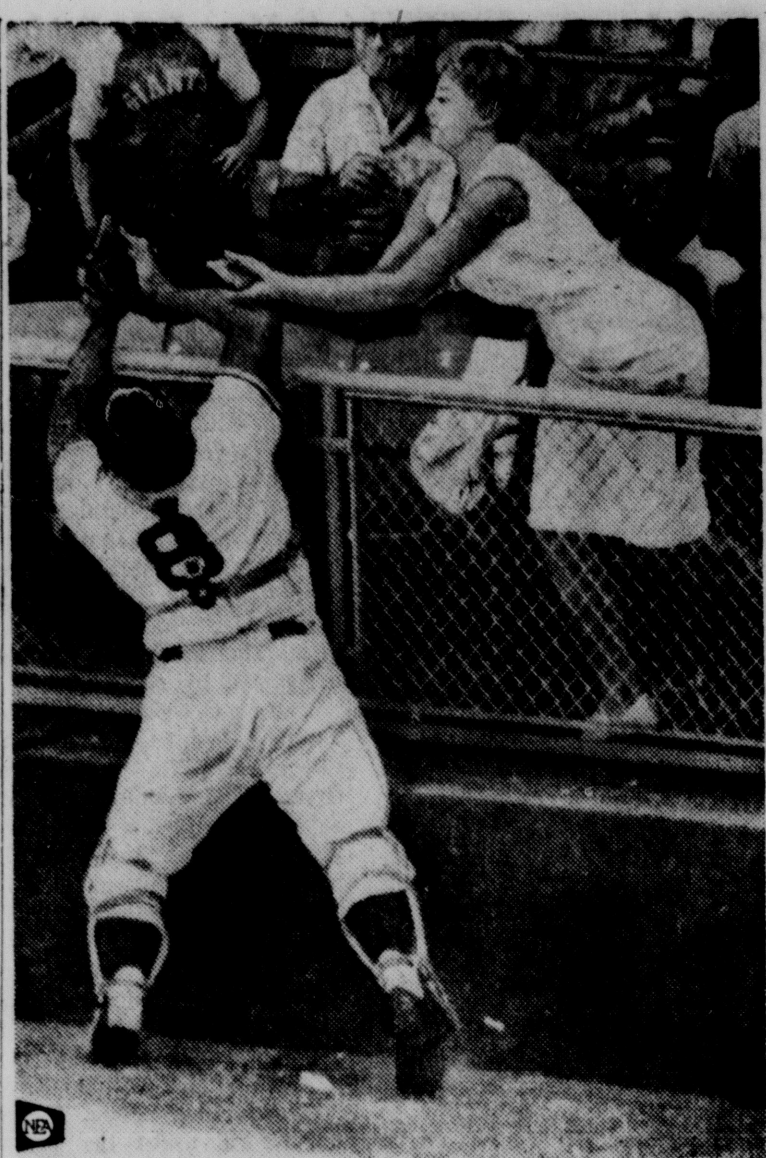

In the National League, Philadelphia knocked off Cincinnati 4-0, a three-hitter by Art Mahaffey and Frank Sullivan. Los Angeles gained a full game, cutting the Reds' lead to 3 1/2 games by beating Milwaukee 4-3 in 11 innings. San Francisco thumped Chicago 8-2 with Felipe Alou getting four hits and Larry Jackson of St. Louis shut out Pittsburgh 3-0.

Darrah Posts Fastest Time On 'Bird Cycle

Tom Darrah, 1020 South Ohio, Sunday kicked his 1952 Triumph Thunderbird motorcycle up to 105.14 miles per hour in a quarter of a mile, the fastest time ever posted for that distance in Missouri.

The record-breaking run was made at the Kansas City Timing Assn., Drag Strip, and made Darrah eligible for the Century Club in Kansas City. The Century Club is an organization exclusively for those motorcycle riders who break the 100 m.p.h. mark in a quarter of a mile.

Darrah's 105.14 m.p.h. run was the heat run at the drag strip Sunday, and his effort earned him the first place trophy. Darrah made the run from a dead stop, which is accordance with regulations.

Darrah, a member of the Sedalia Iron Horseman Motorcycle Club, said the club wished to remind the public to attend the motorcycle races to be held next Sunday five miles south of Sedalia on Highway 65.

2 Big Eight Dark Horses Open Season

By SKIPPER PATRICK

Two Big Eight darkhorses, Iowa State, open the conference football race Saturday in a game at Ames, Iowa.

Coach Clay Stapleton's Iowa State Cyclones got the advantage of one game experience last Saturday but they failed to impress in a 21-0 victory over Drake's Bulldogs.

Oklahoma State, an extremely tough defensive team last year despite a 3-7 season and 2-7 Big Eight record, hope they've picked up enough punch to be a real troublemaker this fall.

The Missouri Tigers, defending conference and Orange Bowl champs, start with Washington State in Columbia, Mo., Saturday. The Kansas Jayhawks, favorites for the crown, have their traditional hard opener with Texas Christians in Fort Worth. It will be at night.

Nebraska and Kansas State each open at home. The Cornhuskers play North Dakota, K-State has a considerably tough assignment in Indiana.

The Colorado Buffaloes, who are expected to make a king-size bid for the title, and Oklahoma Sooners, on the rebound after their most disastrous season in a decade, don't open until a week from Saturday.

Colorado will play Oklahoma State in Boulder. Oklahoma meets Notre Dame in South Bend.

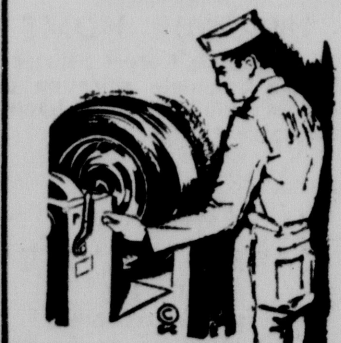

Iowa State appeared to feel the loss of Tom Watkins, graduated fullback, and several line losses from last season against Drake.

The Cyclones scored their three touchdowns in the fourth quarter and were outgained and out-first downed by Drake.

Dave Hoppmann, flashy junior tailback, passed for two Iowa State touchdowns. The first score was setup when a Drake punter fumbled the snap-back on fourth down, giving the Cyclones possession on the Drake nine.

Battlefield, winner of the 1950 Futurity, won 22 of 44 starts in four years of racing. The chestnut horse earned $74,727 for George D. Widener.

Duke, Hodges Breathe Life In NL Race

Dodgers In Victory Over Milwaukee; Red Lead Is Cut

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Duke Snider and Gil Hodges, a couple of holdovers from the Dodgers' old salad days, are breathing new life into the National League race.

Snider's ninth-inning single enabled Los Angeles to tie the score against Milwaukee and his 11th-inning single won the game 4-3 after Hodges, playing his 2,000th major league game, beat out a bunt single.

The Dodgers' victory, coupled with Cincinnati's 4-0 defeat at the hands of their Philadelphia cousins, cut the Reds' lead to 3 1/2 games. Los Angeles is only two back in the all important loss column. It was the Phils' third victory over the Reds in 22 games.

Cincinnati has nine games to play to the Dodgers' 12. The Reds are idle Monday while Los Angeles hopes to fatten up against the Chicago Cubs.

Stan Musial celebrated his 20th anniversary in the major leagues, all with St. Louis, by hitting his 14th home run while Larry Jackson shut out Pittsburgh 3-0 with five hits.

Felipe Alou went on a tear against Chicago with four hits, including his 18th homer and four runs batted in, as San Francisco rolled to an 8-2 decision over the Cubs.

In the American League, Roger Maris hit his 58th home run, only two short of Babe Ruth's record of 60, as New York trimmed Detroit 6-4 in 12 innings. The Yanks need only two more victories or Detroit defeats to clinch the pennant. Boston blanked Baltimore 1-0 and Kansas City edged Washington 3-2. Minnesota took two from Cleveland 5-0 and 5-3 and Chicago swept a pair from Los Angeles 8-1 and 4-3 in 10 innings.

Milwaukee rode along with a 2-0 lead behind Carl Willey going to the eighth when the Dodgers got their first run on Willey's wild pitch with the bases loaded. Norm Larker's double and Snider's single tied it in the ninth. Norm Sherry opened the 11th with a single and all hands were safe when relief pitcher Don McMahon muffed Bob Aspromonte's high bounce for an error. Hodges beat out a bunt and Snider broke it up with a bouncing single down the right field line.

Sandy Koufax, fourth Dodger pitcher, won his 17th. McMahon lost his second game in two days. Art Mahaffey of the Phils struck out nine and shut out the Reds for eight innings. In the top of the ninth he was hit on the head by a ball thrown by Eddie Kasko as he moved from first to second and was carried off the field. Frank Sullivan preserved the shutout.

Philadelphia scored three in the third off Bob Purkey, two coming on a triple by Tony Gonzalez that Jerry Lynch misjudged in left field.

Musial's homer at Pittsburgh came with Ken Boyer on base in the sixth. Curt Flood collected four singles in the attack on loser Al McBean and his successors.

Billy O'Dell was the San Francisco winner over Jack Curtis.

Nude Women In Movies Cause Up roar

EDITORS — A rash of films featuring unclad women is drawing big crowds in major cities — and causing an uproar in the movie capital. Critics blame the film industry. The industry blames fly-by-night operators. Supreme Court decisions have free theater owners from effective prosecution. There seems no stopping the "Nudes." AP columnist Bob Thomas explores the situation in three stories. The first follows.

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The matinee audience at the Vista Theater consisted of 35 men, all of them sitting alone. A handful of others stood rather sheepishly in the lobby, eating popcorn and waiting for the program to begin.

First came the trailers. The next attraction was "Not Tonight, Henry," and there were brief shots of a burlesque comic ogling bare-breasted babes.

There was an ad for another theater that was playing something called "Erotica." This was pointedly billed as a sextette of films including "Nudists on the High Seas," "Naked Innocents" and "Bikini Busters." There was little evidence of bikinis or other clothing in the film clips.

The shorts title was "This is My Body." A well-endowed model goes on a hike in the woods, takes a nude swim and lies on a hot rock. That's all.

The main feature was "The Immoral Mr. Teas," a humorless copy of the French "Mr. Hulot" films. It features a bearded delivery man who sees nude girls wherever he looks—in offices, at lunch counters, on the beaches and in the lakes. Swimming scenes are a must in these films.

The Vista Theater is not unique. A dozen theaters in the Los Angeles area are showing such films. Dozens more are showing them in virtually all major cities. Some are big downtown theaters, many are art houses in respectable neighborhoods.

The black-robed justices of the Supreme Court might blush to learn they are largely responsible. Their decisions proclaiming freedom of the screen have hamstringed authorities from censoring sex in films.

The major producers are hoping mad.

Says Paramount patriarch Y. Frank Freeman: "Unfortunately, everything done in Hollywood reflects on the motion picture industry. The public doesn't realize that these nude films are made by fly-by-night promoters who have no connection with the industry."

Despite their protests, the major producers continue to take the rap for the nude films.

The issue came to a head recently when the Los Angeles County supervisors urged closing of a neighborhood theater that had drawn complaints over its nude movies. One supervisor threatened withdrawal of county support for the $4-million movie museum.

That brought industry leaders streaming to the supervisors' meeting to proclaim innocence. The board removed the threat and appointed a clean-up committee headed by Freeman.

"Obviously these films are made for the purpose of attracting people on the basis of sensuality and sex," Freeman told this reporter. "This kind of problem has been going for 4,000 years. Frankly, I don't know what we can do about it."

Meanwhile, theaters like the Vista continue to pour forth a bountiful brood of bosoms and backside.

Second Earthquake Felt In Northwest

Pacific NORTH SECOND EARTHquake Northwest's second earthquake in a little more than 36 hours was felt from Seattle to Salem, Ore., and east to Hood River, Ore., Sunday.

Father and Son Brawl Ends In Fatal Shooting

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Mark C. Hinze, 38, was shot to death by his son, Richard, 14, Saturday night at the family home in Wyandotte County, Sheriff's officers said.

The boy is being held in the county detention home.

Capt. Robert Smiley quoted Richard as saying he shot his father while the elder Hinze and the boy's grandfather were fighting in the kitchen.

A witness, James A. Ramey, 31, said the brawl started after Hinze fell through a screen door. He said Hinze had been drinking.

Mrs. Hinze, 31, and two daughters, Kathy, 8, and Nancy, 6, were not at home at the time.

The grandfather Bryan T. Henderson 65, said:

"If the boy shot his daddy, I don't know why. He loved him dearly."

'Happy Days' Is Baffling To Audience

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — Samuel Beckett provides theater fans with another weird and baffling experience in his new play "Happy Days."

The two-act, two-player piece of muted action had its world premiere in Greenwich Village's Cherry Lane Playhouse. The spectators accorded it polite rather than enthusiastic applause. All probably were trying to figure out precisely what was meant.

France's Irish-born author conceals a surrealist series of images out of classical allusions, poetic contrivance, sardonic humor and eccentric creative spirit.

Deliberately — as in "Waiting for Godot" and "Endgame" — he avoids the surface answer. The symbols are there for you to figure out.

The locale of "Happy Days" is a sterile plain beneath a "hellish sun." (Beckett sometimes suggests this is all taking place in some post-atomic era.) The main performer is a forlorn female, immobilized within an earth mound, waist-high in act I and chin-high in act II.

Miss Ruth White, who injects a surprising amount of physical animation as well as vocal art into her circumscribed condition, carries the brunt of an 85-minute discourse which shifts and flutters with lyric abandon and off-beat imagery.

She gets a breather occasionally from John C. Becher, who emits assorted grunts, brief phrases and senile laughter from semi-concealment behind a hillcock.

Director Alan Schneider, Beckett's prime interpreter on this side of the ocean, solves the problems of minimal action and elusive dialogue with success attested by the audience's hushed attention.

"Happy Days" is an engrossing puzzler.

Cease-fire Is Called For In Katanga Region

PARIS (AP) — Fulbert Youlou, president of the Congo Republic, called Sunday night for an immediate cease-fire in the Congo's Katanga Province followed by the "departure of United Nations troops from Katanga within eight days."

The head of the former French Congo (Brazzaville) declared free men could not permit the U.N. troops "to commit with impunity a cowardly aggression against a courageous little people whose heroic resistance has drawn the admiration of the world."

Rites Are Tuesday For a Former Dean

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Funeral services will be held Tuesday for Dr. Walter Frederick Sanders, 81, former dean of the faculty at Park College, who died Sunday in a nursing home.

Dr. Sanders joined the Park faculty in Parkville, Mo., in 1911 and was dean from 1920 until he retired in 1946.

THE COB'S GETTING SMALLER — One of the objectives of developers of new hybrid corn varieties is more corn and less cob and Patsy Chick of Hallsville, Mo., displays one result. Two Are Excellent

No Real 'Dogs' Are Noted In Host of New TV Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — New television shows started popping into the nation's living rooms this past weekend with the regularity of cuckoos from a Swiss wall clock, and — surprise — two were excellent; one, good; two, run-of-the-mine, and there wasn't a real dog in the lot.

CBS' "The Defenders" made its debut Saturday night. This is another of those father-son lawyer series and a lot of the drama in the opening show took place in a courtroom. Because it follows the big daddy of all the lawyer series, "Perry Mason," this could easily get a little tiresome.

But if the quality built into the first show can be maintained, I don't think we viewers will be seeing black robes in front of our eyes. The mood, the approach and, most important, emphasis of the two shows could not be further apart.

E. G. Marshall plays the senior trial lawyer and Robert Reed his son. The first show concerned a mercy killing of a mentally deficient infant a few hours after it was born. The murderer was the doctor who brought it into the world.

Although the acting seemed weakly motivated, the episode skillfully and tightly knitted together an attention-holding hour. "Car 54, Where Are You?" made its bow Sunday night. This is the comedy series Nat Hiken created for CBS to replace his much-missed "Bilko" series. This one probably won't do much to make a policeman's lot a happy one, but it surely promises to be a funny program.

The two hapless prowling car cops who with the best intentions in the world get themselves and anybody else in serious trouble are very short Joe E. Ross and very tall Fred Gwynne. As George Burns said on another program Sunday night: "If it makes you laugh, it's funny; if it doesn't, it isn't."

"Car 54" made me laugh. ABC's new "Follow the Sun" also had its premier Sunday night. This is an hour-long series about those TV-type correspondents who never seem to correspond and it is set in Hawaii. It's parents' appear to be the network's "Hawaiian Eye" and the late "Hong Kong." It was a fairly routine tale of a prima donna, aided by the correspondent, revealing the killer of her daughter.

Item: Although a pistol was flourished a few times, there was no shooting or fighting for the whole hour.

Brett Halsey, who starred in the first episode, is tall and romantic looking as a correspondent should be. Next week, another handsome hero will take the lead.

"International Show Time" on NBC Friday night was simply a taped performance of a Copenhagen family circus — clowns, animal acts, trapeze performers and all the rest. For people who don't get enough of this in small doses on the Ed Sullivan Show, it probably was a treat. Succeeding programs will include magic shows, ice shows and more circus.

NBC's "Show of the Week" was really an hour of samples of the works of top comedians of the 20th century. Emphasis on those most of us know very well — Benny, Hope, Burns and Allen. There also were some clips from old movies, but we have been seeing quite a lot of these too, on other shows. Sunday night's program was one of the Project 20 series, but not a particularly outstanding example of its ingenuity, either of its research or commentary.

All in all, however, it was pretty auspicious start of a new season.

Drop Into Sea Proves Fatal To Parachutist

NEWBURY, Mass. (AP) — A sports parachutist intending to land with a birthday cake among a group of Boston socialites at a birthday party on Plum Island fell in the ocean and drowned Sunday.

George K. Dolloff, 31, of Newburyport, father of three daughters, was pulled 150 yards to shore but mouth-to-mouth respiration failed to revive him.

A former Navy parachutist and veteran of many sports jumps, Dolloff had leaped from a small plane 2,000 feet over the party. A huge cake was attached to a special harness on his equipment.

Surrenders Peacefully

Accused Slayer of Three Says Mind Blank on Crime

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Austin V. Johnson accused of slaying his wife and her parents Friday, surrendered peacefully Sunday, saying his mind was a blank at the time the victims were killed.

Johnson, a 42-year-old machinist told Missouri highway patrolmen he remembered having his car filled with gasoline Friday morning but the next thing he remembered was hearing over his car radio Friday evening that he was wanted for killing three people. He has been charged with first degree murder.

Johnson said at that time he was driving south near Marble Hill, Mo., to the home of his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wright of Bell City.

Johnson, whom witnesses identified in all three killings, had been sought since Friday afternoon, when his wife, Elizabeth, 40, was stabbed in the suburban Clayton office in which she worked.

A half hour later, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bruce, were shot to death by a 16-gauge shotgun in their suburban Webster Groves home.

Prior to his surrender, Johnson was last seen at his step-father's home in Bell City. He stayed there briefly, seemed in a jovial mood, Wright said, picked up a 20-gauge shotgun and announced he was going squirrel hunting.

State troopers appeared at the house minutes later.

Li. E. F. Dampf said Johnson told him he escaped the manhunt around Bell City by sneaking along a railroad right-of-way, sleeping in an abandoned house in a field.

He arrived at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Anna White, at Lilbourn, Mo., Sunday morning. She said it took him several hours to make up his mind to surrender.

Sgt. C. E. Harris and trooper N. W. Copeland drove to Lilbourn and made the arrest without incident.

Police said Johnson told them he was extremely upset Thursday night about troubles with his wife and talked to her on the telephone for almost an hour.

Mrs. Johnson had left him, he said, taking all their possessions.

Witnesses in the Clayton office identified Johnson as the man who stabbed Mrs. Johnson five times.

His daughter, three-year-old Lindsay, saw her grandparents slain.

Joint funeral services for the three dead will be held Tuesday morning.

Birch Society Asking Ouster Of Top Justice

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Wint Smith of Mankato, Kan., former Republican congressman, says the John Birch Society has a right to demand impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren of the U.S. Supreme Court.

However, Smith said in a speech at a Unitarian Church forum Sunday, Warren can't be impeached under this country's legal procedures.

"The Supreme Court handed down seven decisions in favor of the Communists," Smith said, "and Earl Warren's name was among the signers on each of those opinions."

Smith also opposed the slum clearance and social welfare programs.

"The government," he said, "has no right under the Constitution to enter into the slum clearance business. After all, it is doing nothing more than creating new slums somewhere else."

He said state and local agencies should take care of persons who can't earn a living.

Steer Escapes, Sees the City, Goes for Swim

NEW YORK (AP) — Motorists along 11th Avenue were startled Sunday at the sight of a 1,000-pound black angus steer racing downtown.

Even more startled were workers on the Grace Line pier at West 15th Street, when the steer raced out onto the pier and plunged into the Hudson River.

The steer butted its way through a wooden fence at the New York stockyards and ran more than a mile before it decided to take a swim.

It swam two blocks before longshoreman William Delaney, 23, West New York, N.J., captured it by perching on a float and grabbing its tail.

Policemen got a sling under the animal and hoisted it aboard a truck for the trip back to the stockyard.

How their telephones save Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sauer 2½ hours a day

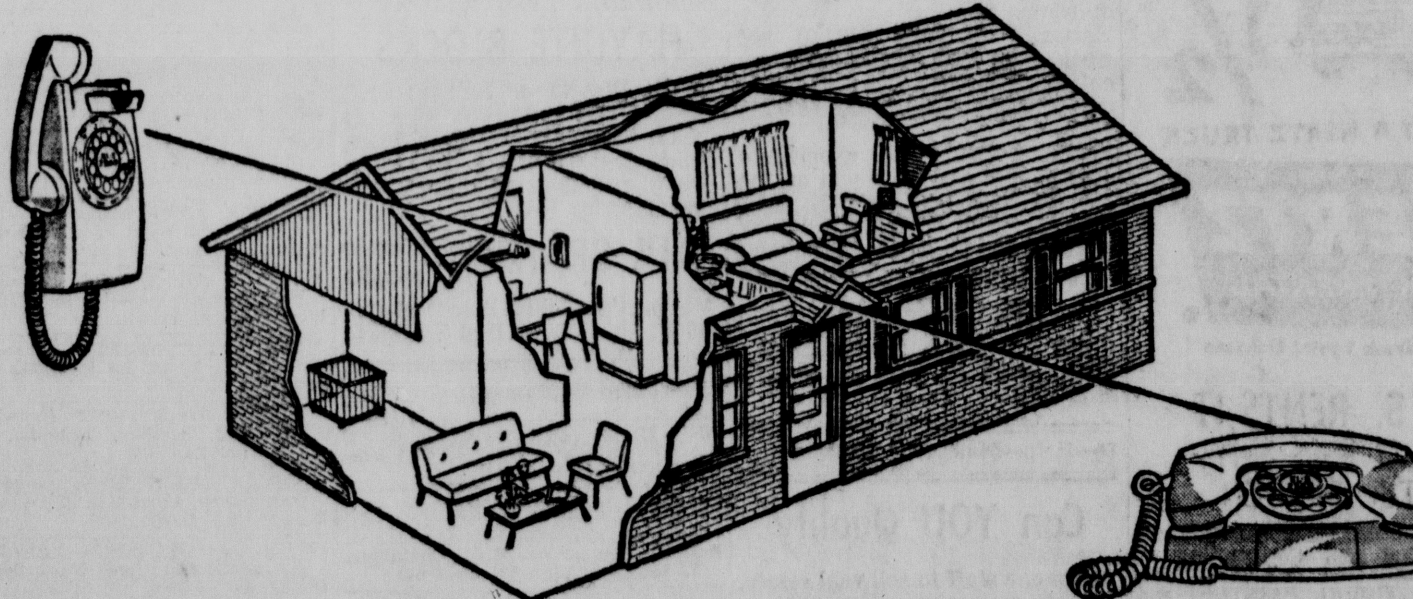

By DON DAVIS
Telephone News Writer

"I called a department store to order a place setting of china I saw advertised. It's for a friend who is getting married."

"As a photographer, I have calls at home in the evening. So I use our Princess phone in the bedroom where it's quiet."

The Sauers use their phones — a white Princess model in the bedroom and a green wall phone in the kitchen — about 50 times a week to help get things done.

As she speaks of the Princess, Mrs. Sauer's eyes light up. "It's so small and lovely. And the way the dial lights up is great."

The Sauers use their bedroom phone when they want quiet and privacy. This phone also gives Mrs. Sauer a sense of security when she's alone at night.

Why not take a tip from the Sauers? Enjoy the convenience, pleasure and security of extension telephones. Cost is low.

Chinese Editor Has Defected; Asking Asylum

HONG KONG (AP)—Eric Chou, one of the top editors of Hong Kong's Communist newspaper Ta Kung Pao, has defected to the West, friends said Sunday.

Chou reportedly left Hong Kong by plane for London last week and is believed to have asked the British government for political asylum. The independent newspaper Hong Kong Tiger Standard reported Chou had gone to the United Kingdom.

Chou's wife, Josephine, a teacher at Hong Kong University, told reporters she did not know where he was. A spokesman for Ta King Pao said Chou is on sick leave.

A Yen for Dinner Company Can Cost You Many a Yen

TOKYO (AP)—So, having enjoyed the company of a charming nightclub hostess for an hour or so, you wave for the bill.

It looks all right until you get to an item that says: Hostess charge —1,000 yen.

"What!", you might exclaim, outraged at being made to hand over the equivalent of $2.77 for the pleasure of 60 minutes of her time.

Sure you danced with her, bought her a couple of drinks. And she probably turned on the charm—the more charming because of the broken english—to inflate your masculine ego.

Besides, it didn't seem like 60 minutes. It seemed like 10.

That's the whole point. If that's the way you felt, she did her job well.

At 1,000 yen an hour, the charge at the top clubs, a good hostess averages 5,000 yen an evening, which with days off comes to 130,000 yen—$361—a month. This in turn is about 10 times more than what she'd earn in a daytime office job.

By U.S. standards, a secretary drawing $3,600 a year could expect $36,000 as a nightclub hostess.

Though the profession is one that invites prejudice, more and more girls, emancipated from pre-war restrictions, are finding hostess jobs in nightclubs and cabarets throughout Japan.

Some do it for the quick money—though the temptation for high living keeps only a few from saving enough to quit and open up that dreamed of bar or coffee shop.

Some become hostesses for fun and adventure—though disillusionment usually sets in quickly.

But most take on the profession from the simple need to make a living. That tearful line about having to support an invalid mother, or pay for a brother's education, isn't always bunk.

"No experience necessary," proclaim the newspaper ads for hostesses. But any seasoned gal will tell you it's a tough job that calls for an infinite supply of charm, patience—and quick thinking.

So six months later you'll go back to the same nightclub, and out of the milling humanity a happy voice will sing out:

"Hello! long time no see!"

Maybe you don't remember, but she does. Her job depends on it. It's the same girl responsible for that outraged comment you've now forgotten about.

Anyway, what's another thousand yen or two?

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to speak out against an irresponsible, moronic member of our modern society called The Sitter.

I have three children under 10 years of age. Because my husband's business requires that we go out a great deal I am at the mercy of these hollow-headed, impudent, always - hungry, human vacuum cleaners with teeth. In the past six months I've had no less than a dozen, so I speak with authority.

They are interested only in the location of the refrigerator, the earliest possible moment at which they can throw the children in bed, the overtime rates for after midnight, does the TV work, and where's the telephone?

It infuriates me that these little idiots are able to make several dollars a week for just dragging their sloppy frames into a nice home eating everything in sight and performing no service other than being on hand to call the fire department if the house should catch on fire.

It will be the happiest day of my life when my oldest daughter becomes 12 years of age. You said that's the age when children can safely be left alone.—SICK OF SITTERS

Dear Sick: It's not fair to label all sitters "irresponsible and moronic." Some sitters are conscientious young girls who perform their duties with pride.

If you've had a dozen hollow-headed ones in six months there's something wrong with your ability to select—or you're willing to settle for any girl who has two arms, two legs and one head.

If you're unable to hire a girl with good references, then hire an older woman — with good references.

Hotel Blaze Claims Life Of 1 Person

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A fire in the old MacArthur Hotel in downtown St. Louis killed a man Sunday, injured seven other persons and forced 120 to flee.

About a dozen guests of the 14-story hotel were helped down ladders by firemen. The others ran down stairs. Elevators failed five minutes after the fire started.

The blaze burned fiercely for a time, but it was confined largely to four rooms and a hallway on the sixth floor.

B. A. Bottermann, 48, a permanent resident of the hotel, died with rescue only a few feet away.

A policeman said he saw Bottermann leaning out the window of his room as firemen raised a ladder toward him. But the window was then covered by a big cloud of smoke and Bottermann fell back inside.

Bottermann, unmarried, was a part-time handyman.

Three persons were admitted to City hospital as victims of smoke inhalation. Three others, including a fireman, were treated and released for smoke inhalation.

Another resident of the hotel broke her left leg when she fell while running downstairs.

Hospitalized were: Mrs. Anna Klofer, 75, a widow; John Timlin, 59, a laborer; and Barton Grant, 69, retired. Mrs. Elise Schulte, 52 suffered the broken leg. All are residents of the hotel.

Sgt. John Walsh of the arson squad said the blaze may have started in Bottermann's room but damage was too extensive to determine the cause.

OTTERVILLE—Mrs. J. E. Golladay was hostess Thursday afternoon to the dependable Sunday School Class of the Methodist Church.

The president, Mrs. H. A. Wood, presided. The meeting opened with the reading of scripture.

Mrs. Golladay, program leader, gave a word painted picture of the Stanford Memorial Cathedral in Palo Alto, Calif., which are subjects from the New Testament and its art mosaic taken from the Old Testament. This cathedral is not denominative, no doctrinal sermon is allowed, no creed recited and no contributions taken. The organ has 3355 pipes and the choir is a student body.

Mrs. A. G. Curnutt gave a poem "My Grandmother." Several cards were signed and sent to the sick and shut-ins.

Mrs. C. R. Shy, Miss Mary Shuts and Mrs. Golladay drew from the birthday basket.

Mrs. Howard closed the meeting with prayer. The hostess served refreshments to eight members and one visitor.

CALIFORNIA — Thirty-seven business men and women from Enon, attended the second annual Businessmen's luncheon, which was sponsored by the Montauk County Home Economics Extension Club Council, on Friday. The meeting was held at the Co-Mo Building, south of Tipton.

Following the covered dish luncheon, which was prepared by the 11 extension clubs in the County, Bill Riley, county extension agent, addressed the group in regard to the new extension law which will go into effect this year.

Mr. Riley stated that towns in the county would have representatives on the County Extension Council and that business people had a responsibility to see that good representatives were chosen to serve on the Council. He stressed the fact that business people too had a responsibility in program leadership for the county extension program.

At the close of the program, Mrs. Richard Cook was elected president of the County Extension Council for the coming two years, and Mrs. James Dahler, was selected as reporter for the Council.

Business men and women attending the luncheon were: Bill Phillips, Charles Barry, Lester Hofstetter, Larry Lenon, Everett Wilson, Clarence A. Rohrbach, Dr. W. H. Moore, Victor Schlup, John Kibbe, Lawrence Cook, Woody Elmore, California; C. W. Yarnell, Mr. Bruce and J. T. Ashley, Clarksburg; Roy Hahn, Enon; Sam Sheldon, McGirk; Dr. Fox, Nelson Stonner, Dr. H.
